Of the conferences, the most important was the one which was held on 23rd, 24th and 25th November 1933 at Government House, Calcutta, to discuss the reorganization and control of secondary and University education. The conference was attended by representatives of the Governments of Assam and Bengal and of the Universities of Calcutta and Dacca, and by some prominent non-official educationists. The All-Bengal Teachers' Association also sent one delegate to the conference. Government undertook to make a survey of secondary schools in Bengal in order to find out the actual needs of the secondary schools in Bengal and to propose measures to meet these needs. But this work could not be undertaken on a comprehensive scale during the period under review.

A conference of the Principals of Government Colleges was held to discuss various questions relating to higher education and on the basis of their recommendation a scheme for the co-ordination of work in Government Colleges was prepared and submitted to Government. Conferences of superior inspecting officers and others were also held both at Calcutta and in divisional headquarters to discuss various important questions regarding primary education and the training of teachers for primary and middle schools, etc.

The Report of the Moslem Education Committee which was constituted in 1931 to advise Government on the policy to be adopted for advancing the cause of Muslim education was submitted in 1935 and Government appointed a special officer to examine critically the various recommendations made by the Committee.

Government also appointed a small departmental Committee in 1935-36 for investigating the possibilities of increasing the facilities of education at Presidency College. Towards the end of the year 1936-37, Government appointed a Committee consisting of non-officials with only one departmental representative on the Committee to examine the affairs of the Sanskrit Association and to recommend measures to ensure smoother working; the Committee were also requested to investigate the possibilities of making the Association a completely independent and self-supporting institution with a grant-in-aid from Government.

Educational research.—Though no outstanding results were obtained during the period under review, a great deal of quiet but valuable work was done at both the training colleges and their tradition of conducting researches was maintained, though the work was handicapped because ruthless reduction was made in the grants to these colleges as a measure of economy. At Dacca investigations were conducted on the Bengali vocabulary of high school students and the corelation between the various school subjects and between scholarship and athletic ability of school children. Certain experiments were tried with will-temperament tests. Teaching of Bengali by the new method of Mr. Bhattacharyya and of English by the West method were also carried on and results noted for a final report. At David Hare Training College Professor S. C. Chakravarti completed an important piece of investigation by administering standardized reasoning tests in Arithmetic to over 800 boys. Mr. K. D. Ghose also experimented with reading tests and experiments were also conducted in the teaching of English pronunciation to Bengalee boys. It is proposed as soon as funds are available to undertake statistical investigations in education in co-operation with the Indian Statistical Institute. The work of standardizing intelligence tests for the higher forms of high schools was still being continued at the college.

Calcutta, the 21st April 1939.

The joint waterworks of the Baranagar and Kamarhati Municipalities in the district of the 24-Parganas are nearing completion and will very shortly be in working order. Owing, however, to party factions among the Commissioners of the Baranagar Municipality, it has not been possible for the Joint Water-supply Committee constituted under section 87 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, to function properly and both the municipalities concerned have by resolution requested the local Government to take over the management and control of the waterworks.

2. In the interest of the ratepayers of both the municipalities and with a view to placing the joint waterworks on a proper footing, the Government of Bengal have, in the above circumstances, decided to take over the management and control of the waterworks. Accordingly in exercise of the power conferred by section 285 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, Government are pleased to appoint the Chief Engineer, Public Health Department, Bengal, to take charge of the joint waterworks and they direct that the waterworks with all plant, fittings and appurtenances thereof be handed over to the control and management of the said officer for a period of one year with effect from the date of publication of this resolution in the Calcutta Gazette.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 14-I.—17th April 1939.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), and in supersession of notification No. 17-I., dated the 16th September 1930, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules and fix the following rates of tolls for the line of navigation known as the Roypasa-Nathullabad-Jail Khal in the district of Bakarganj and as defined in notifications No. 9-I., dated 22nd July 1930, and No. 3-I., dated the 19th February 1939.

This will take effect from the 13th May 1939.

Rules and Rates of Tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the district board of Bakarganj on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of the determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, Kosh boats, green boats and other similar types of boats.

Class II—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats and barges and other square built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of the Canals Act, 1864, and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

Class I.

A. The product of one quarter of the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water-line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees.—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

Class II.

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills, the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills or in the case of steamers, the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be) be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which shall be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the serang, manjee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket shall be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and shall be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one-quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of Crown, of district board, or other local bodies or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the district board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canals.

12. The rate of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels empty or laden per hundred maunds—Twelve annas.

(2) On all vessels empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less—One anna six pies.

(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber or other similar articles, not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth—Six annas each raft.

Tolls shall be levied at Barisal or at Amanotganj near Barisal Chowk Bazar, at Kawnia near old cremation ground (at the west end of Jail Khal), at Defulia near Baniakati bridge and at North Karapur (Bagadhi) at the west end.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at 10 times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month, i.e., provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers and officers of the Army in India, post mail runners, officers of the Irrigation Department on duty, officers and servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevant points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the district board of Bakarganj at a meeting and such decision shall be subject to the approval of the Provincial Government.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees.—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

Class II.

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills, or in the case of steamers the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which shall be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the serang, manjhee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket shall be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and shall be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of the Crown, of the district board or other local bodies, or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the district board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length or 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canal.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels, empty or laden, per hundred maunds—Eight annas.

(2) On all vessels, empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less—One anna.

(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber or other similar articles not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth—Four annas each raft.

Tolls shall be levied at Dwipasa and Bauphal.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at ten times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month, i.e., provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers or officers of the Army in India, post mail runners, officers of the Department of Communications and Works (Irrigation) on duty, or officers or servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevant points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the district board of Bakarganj at a meeting and such decision shall be subject to the approval of the Provincial Government.

Draft notification.

In exercise of the power conferred by clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 66 of the Bengal (Rural) Primary Education Act, 1930 (Bengal Act VII of 1930), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules regarding the manner of election of a member of a District School Board under clause (i) of section 6:—

Rules.

1. In these rules—

(a) "Magistrate" means the Magistrate of the district or any Magistrate subordinate to the Magistrate of the district to whom he may delegate any of his powers under these rules;
(b) "the Act" means the Bengal (Rural) Primary Education Act, 1930;
(c) "election" means an election held under clause (i) of section 6 of the Act; and
(d) "thana" means a police-station.

2. All disputes arising under these rules other than objections under rule 19 shall be decided by the Magistrate and his decision shall be final.

3. An election under these rules shall be held by such date as may be fixed in this behalf by the Provincial Government under section 7 of the Act.

4. All existing permanent teachers, male or female, of primary schools either managed or recognised by the Board shall be entitled to have their names included in the register of voters for an election provided they have completed continuous service of at least three years. A register of such voters in the district, thana by thana, shall be prepared by the Magistrate at least five months before the date fixed under section 7 of the Act for the election.

5. The Magistrate shall, not less than sixteen weeks before the date fixed under section 7 of the Act for the election, select one or more polling centres in each thana within the area of the district and shall cause to be published the register of voters entitled to vote at each such polling centre. The register shall be published at such places within the thana as appear suitable to the Magistrate. Any person whose name does not appear in the register and who claims the right of voting, or any person who considers that any name in the register ought to be removed, may, within three weeks of the publication of the register, apply in writing to the Magistrate stating the grounds of his application for the insertion of his or her name in or the removal of such name from the register, as the case may be, and the Magistrate shall decide such application on a date to be previously intimated to the persons concerned and his decision shall be final and he shall cause the register to be amended in accordance therewith. The register of voters as so amended shall be deemed to be the final register of voters for the election, and no person whose name is not for the time being included in such register shall be entitled to vote at the election. The final register of voters shall be published at least ten weeks before the date fixed under section 7 of the Act for the election. No person shall vote at any polling station other than the one in the register of which his or her name is included. A person shall be entitled to vote only at one polling centre and shall not have more than one vote at such centre.

6. Any person whose name is included in the final register of voters shall be qualified to stand as a candidate for the election.

7. The Magistrate shall, as soon as the final register of voters is published, fix a date for the election within the date fixed under section 7 of the Act by the Provincial Government and issue notices calling for nomination of candidates. Such notices shall be published at the office of every Union Board, Union Committee or President Panchayet and at every primary school, thana and polling centre within the district. Within four weeks from the date of publication of the notices every person who is a candidate for election shall send his or her name to the Magistrate together with the necessary particulars filled up in the nomination form given in Appendix A to these rules. His nomination shall be supported by three voters whose names appear on the dates on which they sign the form in the register of voters prepared for the district. No names of candidates shall be received after the expiration of such period and no nomination shall be held to be valid unless the nomination form is properly filled in.

8. Every candidate shall submit with his nomination form a chalan showing that he has deposited a sum of Rs. 10 in a treasury in favour of the Board. No nomination form, which is not accompanied by such a chalan, shall be taken into consideration by the Magistrate.

9. The Magistrate, after scrutiny of the nomination, shall announce the names of the eligible candidates and a list of such candidates shall be published at least four weeks before the date fixed for the election, at such places in the district as the Magistrate considers suitable. No candidate whose name does not appear in such list shall be considered eligible for election.

10. A candidate who is not elected and has failed to receive ten per cent. of the total number of votes recorded in the district, shall forfeit the deposit made by him under rule 8.

11. If the number of the candidates mentioned in the list published under rule 9 is not greater than one, the Magistrate shall declare the candidate to be duly elected.

12. If the number of such candidates is greater than one, election shall be held on the date fixed under rule 7.

13. The election in all the thanas of the district shall be held simultaneously.

14. The date on which, the place at which and the hours between which the polling in each centre shall take place shall be duly notified at such places as may appear suitable to the Magistrate at least one month before the date of polling.

15. At the end of the second hour mentioned in the notice referred to in rule 14, no voter shall be admitted within the building or enclosure within which the election proceedings are being held, but the votes of all duly registered voters, who are already within the building or enclosure, shall be recorded.

16. All persons wishing to vote shall be present at the election. No vote by proxy or in writing shall be received by the Presiding Officer.

17. A Presiding Officer and an Assistant for the election at each polling centre shall be selected by the District Magistrate. The Assistant shall act as the Presiding Officer in case of the unavoidable absence of the Presiding Officer from the polling centre.

18. The proceedings shall commence by the Presiding Officer explaining the nature and object of the meeting to the assembled voters. He shall then read out the list of candidates against the vacancy.

19. If any person misconducts himself at the polling centre or canvasses within the building or enclosure within which the election proceedings are being held, or fails to obey the lawful orders of the Presiding Officer, he may immediately, by order of the Presiding Officer, be removed from the polling centre or such building or enclosure; and the person so removed shall not, unless with the permission of the Presiding Officer, be allowed again to enter the polling centre, building or enclosure during the day:

Provided that this power shall not be exercised so as to prevent any voter who is otherwise entitled to vote at any polling centre from having an opportunity of voting at such centre.

20. The Presiding Officer shall then proceed to take a poll for each candidate. He shall record the votes himself.

21. All objections to the right of a person to vote shall be summarily decided by the Presiding Officer after reference to the register. No objection to a voter shall be entertained except on the ground that he is not the person under whose name as entered in the register of voters he claims to vote.

22. The Presiding Officer shall on the conclusion of the poll seal the records of the votes prepared by him and prepare a report stating the number of the voters who attended and the number of votes cast in favour of each candidate. The records sealed and the report prepared by a Presiding Officer shall be forwarded without delay to the Magistrate. When the Magistrate has received the records and reports from all the polling centres in the district, he shall, after checking the records with reports, record a note in his own hand stating which of the candidates has received the largest number of votes and shall declare such candidate to be duly elected.

23. In the case of an equal number of votes being recorded in favour of two or more candidates, all of whom cannot be declared to be elected, selection shall be made from such candidates by lot in such manner as the Magistrate shall deem fit and thereupon the candidate thus selected shall be declared to be duly elected.

24. The name of the elected candidate shall be forwarded by the District Magistrate to the Provincial Government for publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

25. No election shall be invalidated on account of any irregularity whatever unless it appears that the irregularity was such as materially to affect the results of the election.

26. All costs incurred for the preparation of the register of voters, the publication of notices, the holding of elections or taking any other necessary action under these rules shall be payable from the District Primary Education Fund.

27. In the case of a casual vacancy occurring under section 12 of the Act on account of the removal, resignation or death of the elected member, the vacancy shall be filled by election in the manner provided in these rules, but no register of voters shall be prepared or published under rule 4 or rule 5 and the register of voters used at the election of the member whose place is proposed to be filled by the bye-election shall be treated as the register of voters for such bye-election, and the Magistrate shall, as soon as may be after the date referred to in section 7 of the Act has been fixed by the Provincial Government, fix under rule 7 the date for the bye-election and issue the notices referred to in that rule.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of State on the 20th February, 1939:—

C. OF S. BILL No. 1 OF 1939.

A Bill to amend the Indian Succession Act, 1925, as respects intestate succession among Parsis.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to intestate succession among Parsis; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Succession Act (Amendment) Act, 1939.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

2. For sections 50 to 56 and Schedule II, Parts I and II, of the Indian Succession Act, 1925, the following shall be substituted:—

"50. In this Chapter, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) any word expressing relationship shall be understood as denoting only a legitimate relative, and the "relative" shall be understood to include a lineal descendant as well as any other relative by blood or marriage;

(b) a child, whether of the intestate or any relative of the intestate, if conceived during the lifetime of the intestate and born alive after the intestate's death, shall be regarded in the same way as a child born during the intestate's lifetime and surviving the intestate;

(c) no widow of any relative of the intestate shall receive a share as such or be taken into consideration as such in the distribution of the intestate's property if she has married again during the lifetime of the intestate;

(d) when property is directed to be divided between members of a class, if there be only one such member, the whole shall be given to such member;

(e) the words "dead" or "deceased" shall be understood to mean "dead in the lifetime of the intestate", and the words "leaves", "leaving", "left" to mean "leaves, leaving or left surviving the intestate";

(f) when property is directed to be divided per stirpes among the lineal descendants of a deceased person, it shall first be divided among the children of the deceased who may be living, and those of them who may have died leaving a lineal descendant or descendants, the share of each such deceased child shall be divided in the same way among the children of such, and the same rule followed for remoter lineal descendants; further, in making each division and sub-division, if the share to be divided is that of a deceased male each male sub-sharer shall receive double the share of each female sub-sharer, but if the share to be divided is that of a female all the sub-sharers shall be equal without regard to sex.

DISTRIBUTION IF INTESTATE LEAVES A LINEAL DESCENDANT OR DESCENDANTS.

51. If a male Parsi dies intestate leaving a lineal descendant or descendants the property of which he dies intestate shall be divided according to the following rules:—

(a) It shall be divided among his children so that the share of each son shall be double the share of each daughter.

(b) If he also leaves a widow, she shall receive a share equal to that of each son.

(c) If he also leaves his father, the father shall receive a share equal to that of each son, and if he also leaves his mother she shall receive a share equal to that of each daughter.

(d) If a child of the intestate be dead leaving a widow or a lineal descendant or descendants or a widow or widows of a lineal descendant or descendants, a share shall be assigned to such child and be dealt with under section 53 below. If such deceased child has left neither a widow nor a lineal descendant nor a widow of a lineal descendant, no share shall be assigned to such child.

52. If a female Parsi dies intestate leaving a lineal descendant or descendants, the property of which she dies intestate shall be divided according to the following rules:—

(a) It shall be divided among her children in equal shares.

(b) If she also leaves a widower, he shall receive a share equal to that of each child.

(c) If a child of the intestate be dead leaving a widow or a lineal descendant or descendants or a widow or widows of a lineal descendant or descendants, a share shall be assigned to such child and be dealt with under section 53 below. If such deceased child has left no widow, nor lineal descendant, nor widow of a lineal descendant, no share shall be assigned to such child.

53. (a) If a male child of a Parsi intestate be dead leaving a lineal descendant or descendants, the share of such child shall be divided among the children of such child, so that the share of each son shall be double the share of each daughter, and if he has also left a widow she shall receive a share equal to that of each son.

(b) If a female child of a Parsi intestate be dead leaving a lineal descendant or descendants, the share of such child shall be divided equally among her children.

(c) If a child of a deceased child of the intestate be dead leaving a lineal descendant or descendants, the share of such deceased grandchild shall be divided in the same way as that of a child under clauses (a) and (b) of this section, and the same rule shall apply to remoter deceased lineal descendants of the intestate who may be entitled to a share.

(d) If a deceased child or other lineal descendant of the intestate entitled to a share has left no lineal descendant but has left a widow, or a widow or widows of a lineal descendant or descendants, if there be only one such widow she shall receive half the share of such deceased sharer, but if there be more than one such widow two-thirds of such share shall be equally divided between them.

(e) The half or one-third share that would be left after the widow or widows have received their shares under clause (d) of this section shall be divided per stirpes between the lineal descendants of the intestate.

DISTRIBUTION IF INTESTATE LEAVES NO LINEAL DESCENDANT BUT LEAVES A WIDOW OR WIDOWER OR A WIDOW OR WIDOWS OF A LINEAL DESCENDANT OR DESCENDANTS.

54. If a Parsi dies intestate leaving no lineal descendant but leaving his or her own widow or widower, or a widow or widows of lineal descendant or descendants, the property of which he or she dies intestate shall be divided according to the following rules:—

(a) If the intestate leaves a widow or widower but no widow of a lineal descendant, the widow or widower shall receive half of the property.

(b) If the intestate leaves a widow or widower and also a widow or widows of a lineal descendant or descendants, the intestate's own widow or widower shall receive one-third of the said property, and the widow or widows of lineal descendants shall receive another third of the said property, and the same shall be divided equally among them if there be more than one.

(c) If the intestate leaves no widow or widower, but only one widow of a lineal descendant, she shall receive half of the said property, but if the intestate leaves more than one such widow they shall receive two-thirds of such property and the same shall be divided equally among them.

(d) The half or one-third of the property that would be left after the persons mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this section have received their shares shall be distributed among the relatives of the intestate in the order specified in Part I of Schedule II subject to the rules that—

(1) relatives included in Article 1 shall be preferred to those included in Article 2, those in Article 2 to those in Article 3, and so on in succession;

(2) where under any Article living relatives of a particular class are directed to share with lineal descendants of deceased relatives of the same class, the property shall be primarily divided among the living and the deceased relatives called hereafter primary sharers, and the share of each deceased primary sharer shall be divided per stirpes among his lineal descendants.

(3) if the primary sharers included in the same Article are of the same sex, or if the intestate is a female, the shares of all such sharers shall be equal, but if the intestate is a male the share of each such male sharer shall be double that of each female.

(e) If there are no relatives entitled to the share under clause (d) of this section, the whole of the said property shall be distributed among the persons entitled to receive shares under clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this section subject to the rules that—

(1) it there be only one such person he or she shall receive the whole,

(2) if there be more than one, if one of them be the widow or widower of the intestate, she or he shall receive half, and the other half shall be divided equally among the others, but if the intestate leaves no widow or widower the whole shall be divided equally among them.

DISTRIBUTION IF INTESTATE LEAVES NEITHER WIDOW NOR WIDOWER NOR A LINEAL DESCENDANT NOR A WIDOW OF A LINEAL DESCENDANT.

55. If a Parsi dies intestate leaving neither widow nor widower nor a lineal descendant nor a widow of a lineal descendant, his or her relatives in the order set forth in Part II of Schedule II shall receive the property of which he or she dies intestate, the distribution being subject to the same rules as are set forth in clause (d) of section 54 for distribution among the relatives in Part I.

56. If there be no relative entitled to succeed to the property of which a Parsi dies intestate under sections 51 to 55, the relatives who would have been entitled to succeed under section 48 if the intestate had been not a Parsi shall receive such property."

(18) Children of the paternal grand-mother's father and the lineal descendants of such of them as have predeceased the intestate."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

At present the law that governs intestate succession among Parsis is that laid down in 1865 in Act No. XXI of that year. It is true the said Act has been repealed by the Indian Succession Act No. XXXIX of 1925 but this has made no change in the law, as all the provisions of the Act of 1865 have been incorporated verbatim in sections 50 to 56, and Schedule II, Parts I and II, of the Act of 1925. It has been felt for a long time by members of the Parsi Community that this enactment, more than 70 years old, requires amendment both in form and substance for various reasons. The meaning of some of its provisions is doubtful; some of these doubts have been removed by judicial decisions. It is also incomplete in some respects, and some of these deficiencies have had to be supplied by other judicial decisions. Certain other changes seem necessary in accordance with present day Parsi sentiment and usage. The arrangement and language also require some revision. In order to remove doubts, supply deficiencies, incorporate as far as possible the judicial decisions which the community has accepted, inroduce changes commonly desired and make the arrangement more systematic it has been thought best to redraft the whole enactment. In making this redraft, so far as arrangement and language are concerned, other parts of the Act of 1925 have as far as possible been followed, e.g., by introducing sub-headings as in the previous Chapter relating to intestate succession among non-Parsis, so as to give a grasp of the subject as a whole. For convenience the new sections of the Draft Bill have been numbered 50 to 56 so that they may be substituted for the original sections of the Act of 1925 now in force.

The following Bill* was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL NO. 7 OF 1939.

A Bill to abolish the punishment of Whipping.

WHEREAS the punishment of Whipping has come to be regarded as a relic of less civilised times, it is expedient to abolish it altogether; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Abolition of Whipping Act, 19 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

Whipping an illegal punishment.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained in any Act or Rules or other provision having the force of law, whipping is not a legal punishment in British India.

Repeal of Act IV of 1909.

3. The Whipping Act, 1909, is hereby repealed. IV of 1909.

*The Governor General has been pleased to accord the previous sanction required by clause (c) of section 108 (1) read with clause (a) of section 313 (4) of the Government of India Act, 1935.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Whipping as a legal punishment is a relic of barbarous days, and lowers both the Government who suffer it to be inflicted on offenders, and the people who endure it in the scale of civilized humanity. Nearly all civilized Governments have abolished it altogether and where it is retained, it is reserved for extremely heinous offences attended with revolting cruelty. The Whipping Act No. IV of 1909 prescribes whipping for the pettiest of offences no less than for a few grave offences. Whipping is quite frequently resorted to in petty cases of theft, etc., and is often attended by extreme barbarity and excruciating bodily pain. The object of this Bill is to abolish whipping as a legal punishment.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L.A. BILL NO. 8 OF 1939.

A Bill to amend the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XXVI of 1937.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application (Amendment) Act, 1939.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India excluding the North-West Frontier Province.

Amendment of section 3, Act XXVI of 1937.

2. In sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), for the words "this Act" the words "the provisions of this section" shall be substituted. XXVI of 1937.

Amendment of section 6, Act XXVI of 1937.

3. Entry (3) in section 6 of the said Act shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 2 of the Muslim Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937, prescribes that Muslim Personal Law will apply to all cases enumerated therein, in preference to any custom and usage to the contrary. Section 3 of the said Act goes further and provides that if the declaration prescribed therein is made by a Muslim then the Muslim Personal Law will apply to 'adoption, wills, and legacies' also. The two sections are quite independent. No declaration before the prescribed authority is required for the applicability of either section 2 or section 5. But the words used in section 3 are somewhat ambiguous. They are: 'Any person who satisfies the prescribed authority ....may by a declaration...........declare that he desires to obtain the benefit of this Act'. What is really meant is desires to obtain the benefit of the provisions of this section. The use of the word 'Act' is misleading and some courts have rejected applications under section 5 on the ground that they are premature as the 'Prescribed authority' has not yet been appointed by the Provincial Government and no declaration has been made before it. It is clear from the Act itself that it was not the intention of the Legislature. Hence it is necessary to make the amendment proposed in this Bill.

The other amendment proposed in the Bill relates to section 6 of the said Act. This section was meant to repeal those enactments which gave legal sanction to usage and custom in preference to Muslim Personal Law. Section 37 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 is also included in the list as No. 3. A perusal of the said section would show that it gives no legal sanction to custom and usage and is in no way inconsistent with the provisions of this Act. It has been included in the list by an oversight. It is therefore proposed to delete entry (3) in section 6.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL No. 11 OF 1939.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code.

WHEREAS it is necessary and expedient that the proceedings and speeches in Indian Legislatures should be published in the widest possible manner; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India.

Insertion of new section 93A in Act XLV of 1860.

2. After section 93 of the Indian Penal Code the following new section shall be inserted, namely:— XLV of 1860.

Publication of speeches in Indian Legislatures.

"93A. No publication made in good faith, of any speech or speeches in any Indian Legislature, is an offence."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is proper and necessary that, for the due and effective exercise and discharge of the functions and duties of the Indian Legislatures, and of the members thereof, and for the promotion of wise and good work in the Legislatures, no obstruction or impediment should exist in the way of the publication, not only in official reports, but in the newspapers and journals of the country, of the speeches, votes, and proceedings of the Indian Legislatures. The recent ruling of the President of the Legislative Assembly given on the point of privilege raised by Sardar Sant Singh, M.L.A., in connection with the publication of his speech by Mr. Krishna Kanta Malaviya, M.L.A., in the Abyudhaya, has brought the whole question to the front. The present position is exceedingly dangerous for the Legislature, for the people, and for the Press. Parliamentary work is likely to become a farce if the widest possible publicity is not given to the work therein. It is impossible to expect the newspapers to examine critically the speeches of the members of the Legislatures before publishing them. It is not right that the Sword of Damocles, the executive action under the Press Act, or any other penalty should hang over them. Moreover the electors would like to know how their representatives speak and vote in the Legislature to which they send them. In the Irish Free State such a privilege is conferred by Statute. It has been enacted in England by the Bill of Rights that the freedom of speech, debate or proceedings in Parliament ought not to be impeached.

There is no danger of abuse of this power of publication of the speeches made in the Assembly, because Standing Order 29 of the Legislative Assembly provides that a member while speaking shall not utter treasonable, seditious or defamatory words. Without this right the freedom of speech of the members in the Indian Legislature may be reduced to almost nothing, and this Bill is perfectly consistent with the provisions of the Government of India Act, which under section 67 (7) provides that "No person shall be liable to any proceedings in any court by reason of his speech or vote in either chamber, or by reason of anything contained in any official report of the proceedings of either chamber". These official reports are available to any citizen at reasonable prices. Publication of the proceedings in other newspapers cannot create any different situation. Hence this Bill.

Third Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1938-39.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1936-37, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1936-37, averaged (a) 42·0 and (b) 9·2 per cent., respectively.)

Character of the season.—As indicated in the Second Forecast prolonged drought adversely affected the growth of the crop. The deterioration was particularly noticeable in the districts of Murshidabad, Jalpaiguri, Pabna and Faridpur. Some damage was also caused by insect-pests at places.

Acreage.—According to the estimates of the District Officers the total area sown comes to 174,000 acres this year as against 160,900 acres both in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—The average provincial outturn as worked out from the district estimates is 73 per cent. as against 80 per cent. both in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Taking the normal yield to be 9 3/5 maunds per acre, the gross yield of the crop for the province is estimated at 44,800 tons this year as against 45,400 tons both in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

The smoke evil.

The air we breathe

There can be no real public health in a city where the atmosphere is polluted with artificial impurities

Clean air is a necessity Health and strength can only be enjoyed when the citizens of a city live in clean surroundings The smoke evil contaminates the air, and destroys health and property It reduces sunlight influences atmospheric conditions by creating fog and gloom and creates conditions detrimental to the physiology of the population The greatest care is taken of water milk or food supplies, but because it is the air, people are prepared to put up with conditions, which from an æsthetic or hygienic view point are totally indefensible The development of a smoke conscience is important if we are to be progressive As we are compelled to breathe the air which surrounds us its pollution by man is criminal

Cause of pollution.

Black smoke

The black smoke that contaminates the atmosphere is produced mainly by the combustion of coal in furnaces devoted to commercial work, and partly in domestic furnaces The evils caused thereby are not difficult to visualise The real difficulty lies in bringing those who are responsible for the emission of black smoke to recognise the extent to which they are damaging health and property Apart from this, black smoke is an indication of fuel waste, and from a purely economic point of view nobody has stronger reasons to wage war against it than the man who makes it Smoke abatement and fuel economy work harmoniously together In smoke prevention from steam boilers, the smartest engineer is the one who gets his pound of steam for the least possible fuel burnt

Factory smoke.

The air for combustion

The problem of the elimination of black smoke lies in the combustion chamber The chief cause being a low furnace temperature All fuel relies for its combustion upon the oxygen in the air We must, therefore have sufficient air The correct quantity is very important If there is an insufficiency of draught, the fuel will not be completely burnt If too much the air excess lowers the temperature of the furnace, and will thus not only make smoke, but carry away the heat released from the fuel up the chimney, to waste

Thus do we see that coal is wasted by too much air; lives are lost by too little pure air

To arrest this excessive smoke and loss of fuel it is necessary to ascertain the percentage of CO (carbon dioxide) in the escaping gases In practice, it is found necessary to allow for a slight excess of air above the theoretical quantity required When burning coal, 12 per cent of CO_2 is reckoned good better results up to 14 per cent may be recorded by a careful engineer, but with 12 per cent. there will be sufficient oxygen to maintain a high furnace temperature resulting in smokeless combustion. Waste also occurs when there is presence of carbon monoxide in the escaping gases.

There are many other factors which contribute, singly or together, in producing a low furnace temperature. These may easily be remedied by any intelligent and careful engineer. It is very essential that a boiler room should be equipped with appliances and apparatus as aids to smokeless combustion. Without thermometers, steam meters, draught gauges and CO_2 recorders, the engineer of the plant is groping in the dark. A little money spent in this direction will repay the owner a hundredfold by a saving in fuel costs.

In Calcutta, when the activities of the Bengal Smoke Nuisances Commission commenced in 1906, the average emission of black smoke recorded per chimney was 13·1 minutes per hour; to-day it stands at ·08 minute. Much of this success is due to the generous co-operation of the owners with the Commission. It is realised that smoke is coal and in its prevention lies a gilt-edged investment.

Domestic smoke nuisance.

The atmosphere of Calcutta.

It is common knowledge that rain washes the impurities from the air and that a 12 mile an hour wind scavenges the air and simplifies a city's smoke problem.

Locally the wind velocity averages about 2 miles per hour, but when, as in our cold weather months, wind and rain totally fail, the city and its environments are said to be in the grip of a "smoke fog" The air is rendered pungent and unfit for human consumption; there is an increased number of deaths from respiratory diseases. Domestic and kindred smoke is discharged at ground level and, under such weather conditions, remains stationary for hours together Particularly bad are those suburban bustees areas where the poor of the city live; there, the smoke discharged into the atmosphere arises from coke and wood fires for cooking purposes; from the burning upon the ground of wood scraps, cow dung cakes and other refuse, around which families warm themselves; and from the burning of "stolen" raw coal in piles upon the ground, for the dual purpose of heating as well as conversion of the fuel into semi-coke which is later placed on the market for sale. Electricity and gas and even good coke is beyond the reach of this class of citizen; but it is some consolation to know that in the prosperous and well-to-do areas such smokeless appliances are being used in increasing quantities.

The fact must be brought to light forcefully that the general physical tone is lowered as the result of this pollution of the air by smoke, as it decreases the amount of oxygen, so vitally important for life's existence. There is no legislation for domestic smoke nuisance in Calcutta. The co-operation of the public in general, on a large scale, is imperative towards solving the domestic smoke problem. The onus is clearly on every citizen to make the city of his abode, healthy and clean.

General control by the Commission.

The Commission, which represents all the interests concerned in the abatement of smoke nuisance, held 10 meetings in the year under review. It maintained contact with the various smoke departments, fuel, engineering and research institutions in Europe and America, and kept abreast of the latest progress in the scientific use of fuel towards the abatement of industrial smoke.

During the year action was taken as under:—

Offences reported for departmental action—1,441.

Offences reported by telephone for departmental action—893.

Inspections and tests of installations—3,659.

Statutory warnings—14.

Prosecutions—6.

In addition to the above preventive action, 140 steamships and launches and 121 locomotives were reported to the local marine and railway authorities for their usual departmental action, which in all cases was readily undertaken.

The maximum fine imposed for offences under the Act was Rs. 175 and the minimum Rs. 35.

Of the six prosecutions which were launched (Appendix II), resort to the penal law was found necessary in four cases because furnaces, flues and chimneys were wrongfully constructed without first submitting plans for the approval of the Commisison. It may be again stated that the Commission is advisory and not repressive. Well-designed plants are necessary for smoke prevention and fuel economy and it is not only obligatory but convenient to consult the Commission whose wide experience is always at the disposal of the public.

Detecting offensive chimneys.

A watch is kept on the smoke nuisance from the Central Smoke Observatory which is equipped with a telephone so that the owner or manager of an offensive chimney may be called up and the emission of smoke of prohibited density brought to his notice. Observations of locomotives, steamers, launches and minor industrial plants are taken locally. The total number of observations made during the year was 6,682.

The observation of smoke is carried out by the two Assistant Inspectors who alternately devote half a day to this duty. A Smoke Inspector is a qualified engineer and a combustion specialist, and his principal duties are to ascertain by tests, etc., the causes of defective installations and suggest means to remedy the same. His services are, therefore, chiefly required at the factory where he can advise on some prevention and fuel economy. Each case of smoke nuisance may call for a particular solution according to varying conditions.

European and American smoke abatement organisations employ Smoke Observers, in addition to Smoke Inspectors. In 1926, the Commission recommended to Government that Smoke Observers should be appointed to relieve the Inspectors, so as to allow the latter to devote full time towards the technical duties of smoke abatement. Administrative approval was obtained in 1927 to this recommendation but the Commission regrets that financial stringency is still a hindrance to this important scheme being carried into effect.

Plans for furnaces, flues and chimneys.

Smoke prevention must begin at the furnace and not at the chimney top. Properly proportioned furnaces, flues and chimneys are the basic factors for efficient smoke abatement; they increase the power of the plant and reduce the overhead and fuel costs. If a plant is properly designed there should be no trouble in complying with requirements of the Smoke Act. During the year the Commission examined and approved 63 plans, of which 40 were made in the office of the Commission, covering nearly all types of industrial furnaces. Plans were also supplied on request to mills outside the controlled area and to other provinces. The number of plans approved by the Commission since 1916, when the Act was amended, to govern construction, reconstruction, alteration or addition to plants, now totals 1,376. The success attained by the Commission through this most important measure is reflected in the low average emission of smoke, per chimney, which has been steadily maintained for the last seven years (Appendix I).

The total fees received during the year on account of plans, etc., are detailed below:—

	Rs.
For making plans	334
For approval of plans	565
For final inspection of chimney, etc., and grant of permission	1,070
Total	1,969

Complaints.

The Commission controls approximately an area of 80 square miles and cannot with its small staff keep in touch with every case of smoke nuisance. It has again been indebted to the public for bringing cases to notices by means of complaints. During the year 81 complaints were received against 78 in the preceding year. The Commission assures the public that on receipt of a complaint prompt and careful enquiry is made. Relief is given, wherever possible, and the Commission endeavours to see that industry is not subjected to unreasonable demands

Reduction of smoke by electricity and gas.

Electricity.

Electrical appliances both for commercial and domestic use should be encouraged as permanent remedies for atmospheric pollution.

The Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation state that "Electric motors totalling 21,361 h.p. have been installed within the area of this company's supply during the year 1937.

Many of these motors have been used in works which were previously driven by coal or oil, and the total number of such works which have changed over to electric drive is 20 "

Gas.

The contribution towards solving the city's smoke problem by the Oriental Gas Company, Ltd., increases every year. They report a continued increase in the installation of cooking and water heating appliances for domestic purposes and have fitted up several large blocks of flats with gas appliances during the year.

The number of industrial concerns using gas for varied purposes has increased and the prospect of further development in this direction is very good.

During the year there was an increase of over 1,187 gas-consuming appliances which have replaced coal-burning chulas and furnaces. Further there is a recent demand for the use of gas coke in boilers and furnaces, etc., to displace coal.

Publicity.

No public health exhibition can be said to be a success that does not include a section giving publicity to the pollution of the air by smoke and its deleterious effects on health and property As in past years, the Commission in collaboration with the Oriental Gas Company and the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation had an exhibit for the 1937 "Calcutta Health Week." The section was well patronised by the public who showed a keen interest in the smoke exhibits and the appliances designed as permanent remedies for the "Smoke Evil." Leaflets on the abatement of domestic smoke were freely distributed.

Inspectorate.

Mr. R. Grant, Chief Inspector and Secretary, returned from Home leave on 18th October 1937. Mr. O. J. Field was appointed to officiate in his place in addition to his own duties and then retired on superannuation pension from 2nd November 1937. Mr. B. Mukerjee has been appointed as Junior Inspector on probation for two years from the 15th November 1937.

Conclusion.

The Commission records its grateful thanks to the various smoke, fuel and engineering research departments. Thanks are also due to those local owners, managers and engineers whose co-operation and valuable assistance have greatly helped the Commission, and to the technical staff for their energy and loyalty in carrying out the policy of the Commission.

Resolution on the Triennial Report on the working of hospitals and dispensaries in Bengal for the years 1935, 1936 and 1937.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Department of Public Health and Local Self-Government.

Medical.

RESOLUTION—No. 803MEDL.

Calcutta, the 22nd April 1939.

Part I.—Calcutta Hospitals and Dispensaries.

Read—

The Triennial Report on the working of hospitals and dispensaries in Bengal for the years 1935, 1936 and 1937.

Hospitals and dispensaries.—At the end of the triennium the total number of hospitals and dispensaries of all classes stood at 54. These included 3 Ayurvedic and 4 Homeopathic hospitals and 7 institutions for the treatment of only females. Twenty nine hospitals provided accommodation for inpatients while the remaining institutions provided treatment for out-patients only.

The total number of beds in the hospitals in Calcutta was 4,375 as against 3,721 at the end of the preceding triennium. The addition of the Chittaranjan Seva Sadan and 4 Ayurvedic hospitals to the list and the establishment of a new Maternity Ward with 98 beds in the Carmichael Medical College Hospitals accounted for the bulk of the increase. The rest of the increase occurred in the Medical College Hospitals.

One of the outstanding events of the triennium was the construction and opening of the Sir John Anderson Casualty Block of the Medical College Hospitals as a result of the efforts of the Centenary Committee on the occasion of the celebration of the centenary of the Medical College in 1935. This has removed a long-felt want of an up-to-date Emergency Block in the Medical College Hospitals and has contributed greatly to the convenience of the public by considerably relieving the overcrowding in the Indian Male Surgical Ward of the hospital. Partial use was also made of the Eden extension Block, which had been lying unutilised since its construction several years ago, by opening 10 beds on a paying basis.

In spite of the provision of a large number of beds in excess of the schedule in all hospitals in Calcutta the number of beds in the hospitals in the city which, besides providing for the needs of the people of Calcutta, draw patients from all over Bengal, still falls far short of the minimum requirements.

Attendance and admission.—The aggregate number of patients treated in the hospitals during the triennium including Ayurvedic and Homeopathic institutions was 3,507,634 or an average of 1,169,211 a year as against 2,741,455 or an average of 913,818 a year in the preceding triennium. Of these 287,382 were treated as indoor and 3,220,252 as out-patients against 189,636 and 2,551,819, respectively in the previous triennium.

This large increase in the number of patients is mainly attributed to the growing popularity of hospitals amongst all classes of people. Up-to-date facilities of modern treatment are available to a larger extent in Calcutta than in the mufassil and this led to a very heavy rush on the Medical College Group of Hospitals, which as usual, treated a larger number of inpatients and outdoor patients than any other hospitals in Calcutta.

The Surgeon-General has in his report given an interesting analysis of the causes for the overcrowding in the Medical College Group of Hospitals and has indicated the possible remedies. Government agree that the solution of the problem lies in the improvement and expansion of the hospitals in Calcutta and in the improvement of the hospitals at district headquarters as far as possible on modern lines and by equipping them with the required facilities for treatment of serious cases.

The mortality table shows that the rate of mortality continued to be unusually high in the Campbell Hospital. This is ascribed generally to the fact that it contains a large number of beds for infectious diseases such as, cholera, smallpox, cerebral meningitis, etc., of which a large proportion proves fatal. Among other reasons for this high mortality is the fact that the majority of patients in this hospital come from the poorer classes which seek hospital treatment very late in the course of their sickness. A scheme for improvement of the Campbell Hospital is engaging the attention of Government.

Nursing.—As in the past the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution conducted the nursing services in the Presidency General Hospital and in the Medical College Group of Hospitals. Government have found it necessary to come to the rescue of this institution whenever it has been faced with a financial crisis and the normal annual subvention given to the institution by Government has had to be considerably increased owing to the shrinkage of the contributions received by it from the public. The institution also received a separate contribution from Government for nursing arrangements for the Carmichael Medical College Hospital, the Sir John Anderson Casualty Block and Eden extension beds. A separate grant was also made to the institution for the maintenance of pupil nurses and dais.

So far as the Medical College Group of Hospitals is concrned, the nursing services were inadequate to the needs of the hospitals and the nursing staff had to work under continuous pressure and strain which were aggravated by the serious overcrowding in these hospitals.

Government endorse the well-deserved tribute which the Surgeon-General has paid to the nursing staff for having done their duties patiently and ungrudgingly in spite of difficulties and handicaps

Nursing in the Campbell Hospital continued to be extremely unsatisfactory. A scheme for the provision of adequate nursing including training of Indian nurses in this hospital has engaged the serious attention of Government and since the closing of the triennium, provision has been made for building and equipping necessary quarters for the nursing staff as a preliminary to the inauguration of the scheme.

The Nursing Council under the Bengal Nurses' Act of 1934 was constituted in March 1936, and rules and regulations have since been framed and adopted. It is hoped that the Council will be able to help materially towards the development of the nursing services and in solving the problem of nursing in the province.

Among other reasons for the proportionately large expenditure on nursing is that a sufficient number of Indian women has not hitherto been abailable for training. A scheme for recruitment of Indian women in the nursing staff in the Medcal College Hospitals was sanctioned but the response is reported to have been poor. Further investigations are being made with a view to popularising this excellent service among Indian women.

The problem of adequate nursing in the various hospitals cannot be solved unless an economic but sufficient scheme of nursing is evolved. The whole matter is receiving the consideration of Government.

Finance.—The total receipts of State, Public, Local Fund and Aided hospitals in Calcutta amounted to Rs. 1,05,93,265 as compared with Rs. 1,04,17,788 during the previous triennium. Contribution from Government accounted for Rs. 55,37,417 or 52;2 per cent. of the total income against 49;09 per cent. during the preceding three years. Of this contribution Rs. 4,23,895 went to the private and local fund hospitals, the balance being spent on maintaining the State institutions. Contributions from the local and municipal funds amounted to Rs. 21,85,356 against Rs. 23,45,629 in the preceding triennium, showing a decrease of Rs. 1,60,273.

The Carmichael Medical College Hospital received the largest share of the private subscriptions and donations made during the period.

Fees and contributions yielded a sum of Rs. 12,51,587 out of which Rs. 8,74,438 was realised in the State Hospitals. The aggregate expenditure for the maintenance of the Calcutta Hospitals was Rs. 1,01,05,788 against Rs. 95,27,170 in the preceding triennium. The invested capital at the end of the three years stood at Rs. 26,70,609, a far from adequate figure considering the magnitude of the humanitarian work done in these hospitals.

Part II—Mufassil hospitals and dispensaries.

The triennium under review ended with 1,577 hospitals and dispensaries practising various systems of medicine as against 1,346 at the beginning of the period, showing a net increase of 231 hospitals and dispensaries. 1,488 institutions followed the Western system of medicine and of the remainder 74 were Homeopathic, 11 Ayurvedic, and 4 Unani dispensaries.

The above figures are exclusive of dispensaries and centres for the treatment of malaria and kala-azar and for combating epidemic, or for other special purposes.

The total number of beds available for inpatients in the various mufassil hospitals increased from 6,000 to 6,347.

In the scheme of rural medical service, the hospitals in headquarters of districts formed an important link, in that these Sadar hospitals served not only the municipal towns in which they are situated, but also the rural areas comprised in the district in the matter of treatment of serious ailments. The condition of these hospitals at headquarters has been generally unsatisfactory owing, among other reasons, to the inelastic finances of the local bodies which are responsible for their maintenance. This deficiency attracted the attention of Government and a survey was made in 1937 of the needs and requirements of the various Sadar Hospitals in the matter of buildings, equipments and additional staff which would enable these hospitals to provide medical relief on modern lines.

A scheme for improvement of local bodies hospitals at district headquarters has since been drawn up and is under examination by Government. It provides for capitals grants-in-aid for enlargement and improvement of these hospitals on condition that the balance of the expenditure involved is met from local resources and that the efficient maintenance of these hospitals is guaranteed by the local bodies.

A grant of Rs. 3 lakhs for putting this scheme into effect was provided in the budget for 1938-39, of which about 1/3rd has already been disbursed and provision for the balance has been repeated in the budget for 1939-40.

The scheme of subsidies to thana and village dispensaries with the object of encouraging the establishment of rural centres of treatment was continued during the triennium. 102 dispensaries at thana headquarters and 287 village dispensaries received the grant-in-aid during the closing year of the triennium as against 79 and 226, respectively, during 1934-35.

Considerable impetus was given to rural medical relief by the Government of India subvention for rural uplift in 1935-36. A large portion of the grant was earmarked for meeting the capital expenditure for the establishment of efficient union board dispensaries. The number of village dispensaries established as a result of this subsidy up to the end of the triennial period was 116.

Attendance.—The number of patients treated in the mufassil hospitals and dispensaries during the three years under report aggregated 32,275,660 against 29,947,708, in the previous triennium, showing an increase of 2,327,952. Inpatients treated during this period numbered 287,064 against 255,305 during the preceding triennium. The steady increase in the number of both outdoor and indoor patients while being partly due to the unhealthy conditions prevailing in the country and the economic depression of the masses is attributable to a large extent to the growing popularity of hospital treatment.

As in the previous triennium, the Mitford Hospital, Dacca, catered for the largest number of patients, the Fraser Hospital at Burdwan and the Victoria Hospital at Darjeeling following next in order.

Nursing.—Nursing in the hospitals in the rural areas continued to be extremely unsatisfactory. In by far the majority of these hospitals no nursing was done. In 6 hospitals at district headquarters there were arrangements for nursing although inadequate. In 6 others a small number of nurses was employed. Thus, except in the case of a few of the main hospitals, nursing was left to the relatives, compounders and other servants.

There has been some improvement in the position since the end of the triennium, indicating a growing appreciation of nursing in effective hospital treatment.

Finance.—The gross income of all mufassil hospitals and dispensaries was Rs. 97,35,446, showing an increase of Rs. 17,15,489, or 12·09 per cent. The share borne by the local bodies accounted for 58·74 per cent. against 60·75 per cent. of the previous triennium. Subscriptions and donations yielded 12·55 per cent. of the total receipts, as compared with 11·84 per cent. in the preceding three-year period.

Fees and contributions from patients showed a welcome increase, indicating that a levy of small fees made with proper discrimination adds to the slender resources of medical institutions in the mufassil without affecting the flow of patients seeking and undergoing treatment.

A gradual increase took place under the heads—salaries, medicine and diet. This was to a large extent due to the opening of new institutions, but partly also to the expanded activities of some of the existing hospitals and dispensaries.

The invested capital at the close of the triennium under review stood at Rs. 32,67,574, an increase of Rs. 1,32,689.

Medical Education.—The two Medical Colleges in Calcutta, viz., the Calcutta Medical College, which is entirely maintained by the State, and the Carmichael Medical College, which is an aided institution continued to impart medical education up to the standard of the M. B. degree of the Calcutta University and the M. M. F. diploma of the State Medical Faculty.

Compared with the preceding triennium there appears to have been a slight fall in the average number of admissions of male students and slight increase in that of female students. There were no female students in the Carmichael Medical College.

The number of students passed out of the Medical College showed a gradual decline.

The Surgeon-General has drawn attention to the fact that there were no Muslim students in the Carmichael Medical College, whereas the number of Muslim students seeking admission into the Medical College and of those who passed out as qualified doctors continued to be on the decline in spite of the relaxation of the standard of academic qualifications in regard to admission in their case. This is generally ascribed to the comparative poverty of the community and the costliness of medical education of the higher standard spread over six years.

A scheme of scholarships has been devised in order to encourage meritorious but poor Muslim students to take up medical education in the State Medical College and Schools. It is hoped that this scheme will have the effect of increasing the number of new Muslim entrants into these institutions and helping them in prosecuting their studies without being hampered by financial difficulties. A similar scheme has also been devised for encouraging medical education among students belonging to the scheduled castes.

As in the preceding triennium, there were nine medical schools in this province, of which 6 were State institutions 2 were aided by Government and one was an entirely private school.

The number of students under training and the number of students passed out as Licentiates showed very little fluctuation as compared with the preceding triennium.

The state of medical schools in the province received the attention of the Inspection Committee of the Bengal Council of Medical Registration, and various defects in the arrangements for teaching and in the hospitals attached to the schools were brought to the notice of Government. According to an approved policy Government have undertaken to maintain the schools up to the requisite standard, the local authorities being responsible for the attached hospitals.

The excellent example set up by local bodies and other interests concerned in the improvement of the Jalpaiguri Sadar Hospital found mention in the last resolution. The Surgeon-General has also made appreciatory mention of the co-operation of the local authorities during the triennium in effecting improvement in the Fraser Hospital attached to the Ronaldshay Medical School at Burdwan.

General remarks.—The triennium under review was one of the unhealthiest on record. All serious diseases showed an increase in incidence. Tuberculosis, kala-azar and beri-beri maintained an upward trend while cholera, dysentery, influenza and smallpox levied a higher toll. Malaria continued to be the most serious menace to public health in Bengal and accounted for the largest number of patients especiallly in the rural areas, viz., 9,411,020 against 9,123,748 and 7,196,318, respectively, in the two last preceding triennia.

The standard method of treating patients and the laboratory facilities for the microscopic diagnosis of malaria were largely improved and extended during the triennium under review and the supplies of quinine to all hospitals and dispensaries were considerably augmented, although they were hardly adequate to the needs of these institutions, far less to those of the great body of patients who could not resort to them. The prevention and treatment of malarial disease which constitutes one of the most important and perhaps the most difficult problem before the Medical and Public Health Departments continue to receive the anxious consideration of the Ministry.

The triennium under review was one of marked progress in the activities of the Medical Department. Receipts and expenditure on medical treatment, the number of dispensaries newly started and the number of beds maintained in various hospitals showed a steady increase. Of the various improvements effected during the period some of the most outstanding are briefly described below:—

Radium and Deep Therapy Treatment.—While Government were considering the introduction of radium treatment on a proper basis in the Medical College Hospitals a generous gift from His late Majesty King-Emperor George V Silver Jubilee Fund enabled the establishment of a radium fund and the purchase of an adequate quantity of radium. This proved a great boon to the Medical College Hospitals. A Deep Therapy apparatus has also been purchased at considerable cost for the proper treatment of malignant growths for the Medical College Hospitals. Since the close of the triennium the purchase of a similar apparatus for the Campbell Hospital has been sanctioned.

X-ray Facilities.—Only 8 hospitals in the areas outside Calcutta and Howrah had X-ray facilities at the beginning of the triennium. Six other hospitals have since installed X-ray apparatus as a result of commendable local efforts and other district hospitals are gradually falling into line.

Control of Drugs. During the period under review the problem of adulteration of drugs, which has recently become a menace to the public health of the province, engaged the close attention of Government. The question of legislation for preventing the manufacture and sale of spurious drugs was also taken up by the Central Government. Pending such legislation, Government have, since the close of the triennium, made arrangements for the testing of drugs in the School of Tropical Medicine, Calcutta, and the Government of India have also set up a Biochemical Standardization Laboratory for testing drugs at the All-India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, Calcutta.

Dental Registration.—A Dental Registration Bill was drafted according to the recommendations of the Dental Registration Committee which submitted their report in March 1935. Since the close of the triennium the Bill has passed through the Select Committee and through the Legislative Assembly and is now before the Upper House.

Indigenous systems of medicine.—A General Council and State Faculty of Ayurvedic Medicine was established during the triennium with the object of regulating teaching of the Ayurvedic system according to approved standards and registration of Ayurvedic practitioners. Since then the establishment of General Council and State Faculties in Homeopathic and Unani systems of medicine has also been taken up.

System of Honorary Medical Officers. ment.—While Government were consi- Medical Officers to assist in the treatment of patients in the hospitals and thus encouraging popular support to the State Institutions which has attained a considerable measure of success in the State Hospitals of Calcutta was extended to the hospitals at district headquarters in 1937 and 136 Honorary Officers were employed in 24 institutions. The Honorary Medical Officers in Calcutta and the mufassil are reported to have rendered valuable service to the patients in the hospitals in which they were employed.

Non-official organisations.—Very valuable services were rendered in the matter of medical relief and towards the prevention of diseases by several non-official and voluntary organisations. The chief among these were the Bengal Branch of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association, the Tuberculosis Association, Bengal, the Indian Red Cross Society, Bengal Branch, the St. John Ambulance Association, Bengal Branch, the Association for the Prevention of Blindness, Bengal, and the Calcutta Medical Aid and Research Society.

The scheme of a climatic sanatorium for tuberculosis patients, towards which a generous donor, Babu Ram Coomar Bangur made a gift of Rs. 2,82,000 during the early part of the triennium, is still under examination of Government and the question of a suitable site for the sanatorium is awaiting decision.

Conclusion.—The thanks of Government are due to the various officers who administered the Medical Department during the triennium and to Major-General P. S. Mills for his very interesting report.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 1517J.—27th April 1939.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Calcutta Official Receiver's Act, 1938 (Bengal Act VII of 1938), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for carrying into effect the objects of the said Act relating to the functions of the Official Receiver of the High Court in Calcutta, namely:—

1. "The Act" means the Calcutta Official Receiver's Act, 1938 (Bengal Act VII of 1938);

"Official Receiver" includes the Deputy Official Receiver;

(2) Before making payment in satisfaction of the Court's orders, the Official Receiver shall obtain the orders of the Provincial Government for the payment and for allotment of funds.

3. The Official Receiver shall charge such fees by way of percentage or otherwise as are laid down in the following table:—

Scale of fees.

(6) On rents recovered from zemindary properties	10 per cent. on gross collections.

Provided that, if in any case it appears to the Official Receiver that the circumstances of receivership are, or probably will be, such as to render his duties in relation thereto exceptionally simple, or otherwise of an exceptional character justifying this course, he may agree to accept fees at a lower rate of percentage, but in every such case the reasons for so doing shall be recorded by him, and a report of such case shall forthwith be submitted to the Provincial Government. In accepting such lower rate of fees the Official Receiver may stipulate that the total remuneration shall not be less than some named sum. 7. The Official Receiver shall ensure that the cash balance in his personal deposit account does not fall below a sum of Rupees two lakhs.

Such notes, bonds, or bills shall be kept in safe custody in the Bank.

Rules and rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the district board of Bakarganj on this behalf.

2 Vessels for the purpose of determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below.—

Class I—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, and other similar types of boats.

Class II—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats, and barges and other square-built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of the Canals Act and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

Class I.

A The product of one quarter of the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied

B The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds

D Saltees—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills, or in the case of steamers the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged

4 After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged which shall be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel

5 Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the serang, manjhee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket shall be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and shall be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of the Crown, of the district board or other local bodies, or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the district board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length or 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canal.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels, empty or laden, per hundred maunds—Eight annas.

(2) On all vessels, empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less—One anna.

(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber or other similar articles not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth—Four annas each raft.

Tolls shall be levied at Dwipasa and Bauphal.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at ten times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month, i.e., provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers or officers of the Army in India, post mail runners, officers of the Department of Communications and Works (Irrigation) on duty, or officers or servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevant points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the district board of Bakarganj at a meeting and such decision shall be subject to the approval of the Provincial Government.

PART VI

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly; Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly; and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL No. 14 OF 1939.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— (V of 1908.)

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 193 .

Amendment of section 60, Act V of 1908.

2. In sub-section (1) of section 60 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,— (V of 1908.)

(i) in clause (c) of the proviso, after the words "belonging to an agriculturist" the words "or a labourer" shall be inserted; and

(ii) the present Explanation shall be numbered as Explanation II and the following shall be inserted as Explanation I, namely:—

"Explanation I.—For the purposes of this section, the word "labourer" shall include any person employed in trade or industry or agriculture whether or not in the employment of any employer and whose income does not exceed twenty-five rupees monthly."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, so as to afford similar protection to a labourer as is enjoyed by an agriculturist.

To avoid the growing acuteness of the problem of housing of labourers, both in rural and urban areas, it is expedient that it should be exempted from sale in execution of a money decree.

When wild birds and animals of the forest are protected from annihilation by the Government, it is essential on humanitarian grounds also that poor labourers should be secured of their so-called resting place in order to enable them to earn their livelihood and rear their family even in the midst of extreme destitution.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL No. 15 OF 1939.

A Bill to limit rates of interest and for that purpose further to amend the Usurious Loans Act, 1918.

WHEREAS it is expedient to limit the rates of interest and for that purpose further to amend the Usurious Loans Act, 1918; It is hereby enacted as follows:— X of 1918.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Usurious Loans (Amendment) Act, 193 .

Amendment of section 3, Act X of 1918.

2. In section 3 of the Usurious Loans Act, 1918 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act),— X of 1918.

(1) in sub-section (1),—

(a) in clause (a), for the word "and" occurring at the end the word "or" shall be substituted;

(b) for the words "may exercise all or any of the following powers" the words "shall exercise all the following powers or all such of them as may not be inappropriate to the case" shall be substituted; and

(c) in the proviso,—

(i) the brackets and figure "(i)" occurring in clause (i) shall be omitted; and

(ii) clause (ii) shall be omitted;

(2) in sub-section (2),—

(a) for clause (a) the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"(a) In this section, 'excessive' means—

(i) in excess of interest calculated at the rate of six per cent. per annum with annual rests or

(ii) if the Reserve Bank of India's rate at the date of the loan exceeds three per cent. per annum, in excess of interest calculated at three per cent. above such Reserve Bank rate with annual rests:

Provided that if the Court considers that having regard to the risk incurred as it appeared, or must be taken to have appeared to the creditor at the date of the loan a lower rate of interest was reasonable, all interest in excess of such rate shall be deemed 'excessive' "; and

(b) the Explanation shall be omitted; and

(3) to sub-section (3) the following shall be added at the end, namely:—

"or if such suit is instituted by a debtor for any of the reliefs specified in sub-section (1) of section 3".

Amendment of section 4, Act X of 1918.

3. In section 4 of the said Act, for the words "may exercise" the words "shall exercise" shall be substituted.

Insertion of new section 5 in Act X of 1918.

4. After section 4 of the said Act, the following section shall be added, namely:—

Punishment for evasion of Act relating to maximum rates of interest.

"5. Any person who evades or attempts to evade the provisions of this Act prescribing the maximum rate of interest by actually lending a smaller sum than that shown in the agreement or instrument executed by the debtor or in any other manner whatsoever, shall be punishable with fine not exceeding the sum of (a) one thousand rupees and (b) twice the amount which has been paid to him in consequence of such evasion or would have been paid to him if the attempted evasion had been successfully carried out."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is an admitted fact that the high rate of interest forms a heavy burden and is one of the chief causes of agricultural indebtedness. It is also well known that low rates of interest prevailing in the cities have little effect on the usurious rates prevailing in the rural areas. The object of the Bill is to limit the rate of interest and thus relieve the masses from the exploitation and extortion of moneylenders. The simplest method of doing this is to amend the Usurious Loans Act, 1918. The measure has been adopted in certain Provinces but in a matter like this uniformity is greatly needed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The legal profession has now been in existence in British India for about 150 years. It is a progressive institution. But it still consists of different grades with different status.

There has been a natural and growing desire and consciousness in the profession that all the different grades and distinctions should be abolished and that there should be only one grade of lawyers, practising in all the courts—from the High Court down to the lowest Civil, Criminal and Revenue Courts.

Another equally strong feeling which has grown up is that the Bar in India, like the Bar in Great Britain, should have substantial autonomy in the management of its own affairs and should free itself from the control of the courts.

This feeling found its expression first in the Resolution moved by Munshi Iswar Saran in the Legislative Assembly in 1921, recommending legislation with a view to create an Indian Bar so as to remove all distinctions enforced by statute or by practice between Barristers and Vakils.

The Government practically accepted the Resolution of Munshi Iswar Saran and invited the opinion of the High Courts and the Local Governments on two questions, viz., the creation of an India Bar Council and the desirability of removing all distinctions enforced by statute or by practice between Vakils and Barristers. The Local Governments unanimously recommended the removal of these distinctions; so also most of the High Courts. These opinions were collected in 1923. Thereupon the Indian Bar Committee was appointed by the Government of India in November, 1923, to report on the proposals made from time to time for constituting an India Bar with particular reference to the constitution, statutory recognition, functions and authority of Bar Council and its position vis-a-vis High Courts and the extent to which it might be desirable to remove the existing distinctions between Barristers and Vakils.

The Committee unanimously recommended the unification of all practitioners.

The Committee also recommended that some measure of self-government should be granted to the Bars attached to some of the High Courts.

To give effect to these recommendations by legislation a Bill was introduced which was ultimately passed as the Indian Bar Councils Act of 1926. A Bar Council was created by the Act to achieve this two-fold object, viz., the ultimate unification and eventual autonomy of the legal profession. But the reforms accomplished by this Act did not go far enough either in extent or in substance. The Act introduced some partial reforms regarding the enrolment and status of the lawyers entitled to practise in the High Court but left completely untouched the pleaders of subordinate courts. The result therefore is that there has not been any improvement in the status of the legal practitioners of the subordinate courts. They are still governed by the provisions of the Legal Practitioners Act of 1879. Their enrolment and conduct are still regulated by the High Court by rules made under the Legal Practitioners Act.

The object of this Bill is to bring about the desired unification and autonomy of the legal profession.

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XVIII of 1937.

Short title and effect.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Hindu Women's Rights to Property (Amendment) Act of 193 .

(2) It will have retrospective effect from the 14th April, 1937.

Amendment of section 3, Act XVIII of 1937.

2. In section 3 of the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937,— XVIII of 1937.

(a) to sub-section (1) the following further provisos shall be added, namely:—

"Provided further that in the absence of a widow or a son or a son's son or a son's son's son of the intestate, the property of the deceased shall devolve on his daughters, subject to the limitations and in the order provided by the Hindu Law in this behalf:

Provided also that in the last mentioned case if there is a widow of a predeceased son existing with one or more maiden daughters, she shall inherit as a maiden daughter and if there is no maiden daughter but one or more married daughters having a son or sons the predeceased son's widow shall inherit as one of such daughters and if the daughter dies leaving a son or sons, the son or sons shall inherit their mother's share along with the son's widow or son's son's widow or son's son's son's widow."; and (b) in sub-section (3), for the word "widow" the word "woman" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to give to a daughter that right of inheritance to which she is entitled under the text of Yajnavalkya and Vishnu and other exponents of Hindu Law and to which she is entitled in equity and justice.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL NO. 21 OF 1939.

A Bill further to amend the Contempt of Courts Act, 1926, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Contempt of Courts Act, 1926, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XII of 1926.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Contempt of Courts (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

Insertion of new section 1A in Act XII of 1926.

2. After section 1 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1926 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following new section shall be inserted, namely:— XII of 1926.

Contempt of Court.

"1A. Whoever, by words either spoken or written or by signs or by visible representation or otherwise, interferes with or obstructs the administration of justice in a court during the pendency of any case therein shall be deemed to commit contempt of court within the purview of sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 2."

Insertion of new section 2A in Act XII of 1926.

3. After section 2 of the said Act, the following new section shall be inserted, namely:—

Procedure for trial of offences.

"2A. A High Court or a Chief Court taking cognizance of any case of contempt under the provisions of this Act shall commit or hold to bail the accused person to take his trial before itself, and in trying the accused shall, mutatis mutandis, follow the procedure prescribed in Chapter XX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for trial of Summons cases." V of 1898.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Contempt of Courts Act of 1926 has defined and limited the powers exercisable by High Courts and Chief Courts in punishing contempts of court. But it has not laid down any definition of the offence of contempt of court nor has it laid down the procedure and practice which should be followed in dealing with such offence. As the law stands now, one cannot speak with confidence as to what constitutes a contempt of court. There are different categories of contempt. Is it intended merely to prohibit interference with or obstruction of the administration of justice during the pendency of a case or should the law of contempt go further and penalise all such adverse criticism of judges and their decisions even after the disposal of cases as may bring a court into contempt and scandalise a judge? In the absence of a definition different courts will inevitably take different views. It should not be impossible for the legislature to formulate a workable definition of an offence which it seeks to punish. In any case, the Court will in each case have to find a definition for itself. It is not fair and reasonable to enact penal legislation without a cut and dried definition of what the offence is. While preventing interference with the course of administration of justice, this Bill seeks to give perfect freedom to the press and the public in the matter of comments upon judicial decisions. As regards procedure, the jurisdiction in contempt is now exceptionally summary and arbitrary. The powers of the Court are now extraordinary, uncontrolled and unfettered. But even a judge of the High Court is a human being and not a superman. The prosecutor himself should not be the judge of the accused. Besides there should be all the safeguards of a regular trial. The procedure should be laid down. This Bill seeks to fill up this two-fold lacuna in the existing law. The freedom of the press is not infrequently in jeopardy without the definition and procedure prescribed in the Act.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th February, 1939:—

L. A. BILL NO. 22 OF 1939.

A Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for the purpose of providing procedure for Provincial Insolvency Court to bring within its jurisdiction the right, title and interest of a member of a joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent; It is hereby enacted as follows:— V of 1920.

Short title, extent, commencement and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It shall apply to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts.

(3) It shall come into force immediately and shall apply to all pending proceedings.

Amendment of section 28, Act V of 1920.

2. Sub-sections (3) and (4) of section 28 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall be deleted. V of 1920.

Insertion of new section 34A in Act V of 1920.

3. After section 34 of the said Act the following shall be inserted as section 34A, namely:—

Description of insolvent's property divisible amongst creditors.

"34A. (1) The property of the insolvent divisible amongst his creditors, and in this Act referred to as the property of the insolvent, shall not comprise the following particulars, namely:—

(a) property held by the insolvent on trust for any other person; and

(b) the tools (if any) of his trade and the necessary wearing apparel, bedding, cooking vessels and furniture of himself, his wife and children to a value, inclusive of tools and apparel and other necessaries as aforesaid, not exceeding three hundred rupees in the whole.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, the property of the insolvent shall comprise the following particulars, namely:—

(a) all such property as may belong to or be vested in the insolvent at the commencement of the insolvency or may be acquired by or devolve on him before his discharge;

(b) the capacity to exercise and to take proceedings for exercising all such powers in or over or in respect of property as might have been exercised by the insolvent for his own benefit at the commencement of his insolvency or before his discharge;

(c) the capacity to bind the right, title and interest of the member of a joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent for such debts as are proved in a regular civil suit instituted by the Receiver representing the whole body of creditors to be untainted with immorality or illegality, and not otherwise; and

(d) all goods being at the commencement of the insolvency in the possession, order or disposition of the insolvent, in his trade or business by the consent and permission of the true owner under such circumstances that he is the reputed owner thereof:

Provided that things in action other than debt due or growing due to the insolvent in the course of his trade or business shall not be deemed goods within the meaning of clause (d):

Provided also that the true owner of any goods which have become divisible among the creditors of the insolvent under the provisions of clause (d) may prove for the value of such goods."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Civil Justice Committee Report (1924-25), Chapter XIV (Pages 225-45), in paragraph 26 itself admitted difficulty in laying down procedure to bind the right, title and interest of the members of a Hindu Joint Mitakshara family other than the insolvent because some decisions of High Courts appeared to make the whole property of the insolvent vest in the Receiver. At that time the Civil Justice Committee was not armed with varieties of discussions on so thorny a subject and wished to elicit opinion. But in course of a dozen years sufficient opinion has clustered round it in the shape of conflicting decisions among several High Courts and even the Privy Council in Sat Narain V. Behari Lal, 6 Lah. 1: A. I. R. 1925 P. C. 18 does not lay down any definite procedure. The result is that the wearied creditor is driven from Court to Court and is entrapped in a compromise with the insolvent on disadvantageous terms. The minor sons of the insolvent, who are always legally protected, often raise their heads to litigate at any stage during insolvency proceedings or after it, which involves a direct breach of the first duties of allegiance and respect from Hindu sons towards their insolvent fathers and is rarely instituted without collusion on the part of the latter. Consequently a claim by a son alleging the immorality or illegality of a debt incurred by his father as the ground for setting aside a transaction entered into by the latter must always be viewed with great suspicion, especially where the interests of a bona fide purchaser for value at an auction sale have to be considered. The members of the joint family other than the minors also put obstacles in the way. It is, therefore necessary to stop these vexatious claims based on inequitable pleas and interference by all members of the joint Hindu Mitakshara family and to safeguard both the creditors and the insolvent debtors that a definite procedure be laid down and the present uncertain condition must be ended.

The present Bill proposes to provide for a certain procedure to safeguard the interests of the creditors, purchasers and members of the joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent. As the Receiver represents both the parties, confidence must be reposed in him and, to bind the right, title and interest of members of joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent, he should be authorised to institute a regular civil suit against all those who may possibly lay adverse claim to such properties of the joint family so that there may be proper adjudication, and such of the assets as may be found liable for the just debts may be made available to the Receiver for the satisfaction of the proved debts of the insolvent.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the law relating to insolvency in the Presidency-towns and the towns of Rangoon and Karachi for the purpose of providing procedure for Presidency-towns Insolvency Court to bring within its jurisdiction the right, title and interest of a member of a joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, commencement and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It shall come into force immediately and shall apply to all pending proceedings.

Amendment of section 52, Act III of 1909.

2. In sub-section (2) of section 52 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909,— III of 1909.

(i) after clause (b) the following shall be inserted as clause (c), namely:—

"(c) the capacity to bind the right, title and interest of the member of a joint Hindu Mitakshara family other than the insolvent for such debts as are proved in a regular civil suit instituted by the Official Receiver representing the whole body of creditors to be untainted with immorality or illegality, and not otherwise; and"; and (ii) clause (c) shall be re-lettered as clause (d).

Resolution on the Annual Irrigation Revenue Report for the year 1937-38.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Department of Communications and Works.

Irrigation.

CALCUTTA, THE 15TH MARCH 1939.

RESOLUTION—No. 1-I.

Read—

The Annual Irrigation Revenue Report for the year 1937-38.

2. The total capital expenditure of the Irrigation Branch of the Department of Communications and Works during 1937-38 was Rs. 2,13,643, after the deduction of receipts and recoveries on capital account amounting to Rs. 94,876, as against Rs. 7,96,062 in the previous year. The major portion of this capital outlay was incurred on the completion of the reconditioning of the Anderson Weir and on special repairs to protective works in the Damodar Canal system which were necessitated by the high flood of August 1935.

The expenditure on revenue account amounted to Rs. 28,29,151 during the year under review as against Rs. 25,62,039 of the previous year. Of the total, the sum of Rs. 7,55,942 was spent on irrigation works proper, the principal items being the Midnapore, Bakreswar, Damodar and Eden Canals and the contour survey in Central and Western Bengal. A sum of Rs. 2,66,240 was spent mainly as a contribution to the cost of dredging the storm water outfall channel of the Corporation of Calcutta by the Government dredger "Ronaldshay" for which hire and other charges are realised from the Corporation. The rest of the expenditure on revenue account was on navigation, embankment and drainage works. The expenditure on navigation was mainly for the upkeep of the five suction dredgers, the maintenance of the Hijili Tidal Canal in Midnapore and of the existing steamer and boat routes from Calcutta to Eastern Bengal and Assam and the conservancy of some of the principal navigable rivers of the province such as the Ganges, the Dhalleswari and the Buriganga.

The total revenue receipts during the year were Rs. 11,97,334 as against Rs. 15,18,194 in the previous year. The fall of revenue to the extent of about Rs. 3,20,000 was due mainly to the widespread opposition to the collection of the improvement levy in the Damodar Canal area.

The rainfall during the year under review was normal and fairly well distributed throughout the province except in a part of Northern Bengal and in the areas served by the Damodar and Eden Canals, where it was slightly below normal but remarkably irregular in its distribution. It was scanty during the kharif season with the result that there was a keen demand for canal water at times specially during the months of June and October. The supply of water from the canals was adequate and ensured a good crop in the areas concerned.

The total area irrigated by the irrigation canals—the Midnapore, Damodar, Eden, Bakreswar, Salbund, Amjore and Kashianalla Canals—was 200,308 acres as compared with 201,696 acres in the previous year. The slight fall was due to a reduction in the number of leases as a result of fairly well distributed rainfall in the areas served by the Salbund, Bakreswar and Kashianalla Canals.

The Damodar Canal area was brought during the previous year under the operation of the Bengal Development Act, XVI of 1935, which provides for the development of lands in Bengal and authorises a levy in respect of increased profits resulting from improvement works constructed by Government. An improvement levy at the rate of Rs. 5-8 per acre was imposed in the commanded area of the canal, but protests were lodged against this rate as being excessive. A committee consisting of members of the Legislature and officials was appointed to enquire into the complaint and to consider what should in their opinion be a fair rate of levy. The committee while agreeing that the rate of Rs. 5-8 was justified on the increased outturn of crops, which was made possible by the canal, recommended that in consideration of the economic position of the cultivators, a rate of Rs. 2-9 per acre would be justified.

The contour survey of certain areas in Central and Western Bengal which was undertaken during the cold weather of 1936 was continued during the year under review. It is expected that on the data obtained by such surveys, it will be possible to frame projects and schemes which will be remunerative and suitable for execution under the Bengal Development Act.

A survey for the preparation of an estimate of the cost of a project for flushing and irrigating an area of 916 square miles in the districts of Burdwan, Hooghly and Howrah between the Damodar and Hooghly rivers was taken up during the year under review. A temporary circle, viz., the Development Circle with two divisions and four subdivisions, was opened for the work with effect from August 1937.

A survey along the proposed escape channel to frame a detailed estimate for lowering the flood level of the Gumti river in the district of Tippera was also carried out during the year.

The dredger "Ronaldshay" which has been referred to before was engaged during the year under review for 219 days in all in the work of dredging the Calcutta Outfall channel and earned a hire charge of Rs. 87,600.

With a view to bringing into force the Bengal Waterways Act by the creation of a Waterways Board in Bengal, a provision was made for half the statutory contribution provided in the Act in the budget of the last six months of the year.

Mr. T. A. Curry, Chief Engineer, proceeded during the year on leave preparatory to retirement. The Governor desires to acknowledge the valuable services which he rendered to the province during a career notable for great devotion to duty.

By order of the Governor,

J. R. Blair,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 13-I.—6th April 1939.—It is hereby notified for general information that in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor intends to make the following rules and fix the following rates of tolls for the line of navigation known as the Surjamani khal in the district of Bakarganj and as defined in the notification No. 10-I., dated the 6th April 1939.

2. Any objection or suggestion with respect thereto should reach the undersigned before the 29th May 1939:—

Rules and rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the district board of Bakarganj on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, and other similar types of boats.

Class II—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats, and barges and other square-built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of the Canals Act and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

Class I.

A. The product of one quarter of the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees.—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

Class II.

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills, or in the case of steamers the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which shall be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the serang, manjhee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket shall be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and shall be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of the Crown, of the district board or other local bodies, or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the district board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length or 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canal.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels, empty or laden, per hundred maunds—Eight annas.
(2) On all vessels, empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less—One anna.
(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber or other similar articles not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth—Four annas each raft.

Tolls shall be levied at Dwipasa and Bauphal.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at ten times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month, i.e., provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers or officers of the Army in India, post mail runners, officers of the Department of Communications and Works (Irrigation) on duty, or officers or servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevant points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the district board of Bakarganj at a meeting and such decision shall be subject to the approval of the Provincial Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to bring about a desirable change in the present constitution of the Committees of the Jama Masjid and Fatehpuri Masjid, by reducing the term of office of the members from life to five years and increasing the number of independent and representative Muslim members in the Committee so as to provide for popular and effective control over the Mosques and Endowments attached thereto, which have hitherto remained almost exclusively in the hands of persons who were never represented by any democratic principle, and further to ensure the proper collection of income, disbursement of expenditure, maintenance and publication of the accounts and observance of discipline in the Mosques.

These changes cannot be brought about except by express legislation.

No. 9R.—11th May 1939.—In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (3) of section 27 of the Bengal Aerial Ropeways Act, 1923 (Bengal Act VII of 1923), the Governor is pleased to confirm the following by-laws made by the Darjeeling Ropeway Company, Limited, under sub-sections (1) and (2) of the said section for the working of the Bijonbari-Darjeeling Ropeway.

Parcels and Goods Tariff.

1. General.—These rules must be read in conjunction with the rules, regulations, packing conditions, etc, laid down in the Indian Railway Conference Association Coaching Tariff and the Indian Railway General Classification of Goods, subject to the variations published in the Coaching and Goods Tariffs of individual Railways.

Information regarding the descriptions of traffic, for which various railway stations are open, is given in the "Alphabetical List of Railway Stations in India," published by the General Secretary, Indian Railway Conference Association, New Delhi.

2. Time.—Indian standard time is kept at all stations.

3. Hours of business.—Stations will be open for the booking and delivery of parcels and goods between 8 hours and 16 hours daily, except on Sundays, Christmas Day and Good Friday, when stations will be closed.

4. Enquiries, etc.—(a) Enquiries should be made from any station or from the Traffic Department of the Railway concerned. At stations enquiries should invariably be made from the Station Master or the Clerk-in-charge and not from any other person. The public are liable to be misled by accepting information from other sources.

(b) Communications, complaints, etc., should be addressed to the General Manager or the Assistant Traffic Superintendent, Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway, Kurseong. Officials should be addressed by designation and not by name, as the latter procedure may cause delay in cases of absence.

5. Conduct of ropeway employees.—(a) Ropeway employees are instructed to be courteous and obliging to the public and to render them every assistance, subject to observance of rules.

(b) Gratuities or fees should not be offered to Ropeway employees, who are strictly forbidden to ask or accept any gratification.

6. Despatch by any particular time not guaranteed.—The Ropeway Company do not guarantee the despatch of parcels or goods by any particular time, nor will they be responsible for the arrival of parcels or goods at any station by any particular time.

7. Stations.—(a) There are four stations on the Ropeway, namely:—

	Code Initials.
Darjeeling	D. J.
Singtam Factory	S. G. Y.
Chongtong	C. N. O.
Bijanbari	B. B. Y.

(b) At Darjeeling transhipment takes place between the Ropeway and the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway.

(c) Singtam Factory, Chongtong, and Bijanbari are open for local booking and for through booking with the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway and other Railways. Darjeeling is open for local booking over the Ropeway (and through booking over railways).

8. Traffic.—(a) Passengers are not carried.

(b) Large animals are not carried. Small animals such as pigs, goats, sheep, etc., not exceeding 2 ft. each in height, are carried and charged for as one maund each. Poultry, birds, etc., are carried, provided that they are properly confined in baskets or crates, which will be weighed and charged for accordingly.

(c) Luggage, parcels, and goods are carried subject to the limitations given.

(d) Dangerous goods and explosives are carried under the provisions of rule 26 (below).

9. Booking.—When tendered for despatch, each consignment must be accompanied by a parcels or goods forwarding note, filled in properly and legibly, showing the route, if any particular route other than the cheapest route is selected by the sender, and containing a declaration of the weight, description, and destination (station and Railway on which situated) of the parcels or goods consigned.

10. Marking.—Every package must be clearly marked by the sender with name, initials, or private marks, for identification purposes. Such name, initials, or private marks must also be shown on the forwarding note. Every package of a consignment must, in addition to the sender's marks, be marked with the code initials of the forwarding and receiving stations, the forwarding note or invoice number, and the number of packages in the consignment.

11. Penalty for false declaration.—If on arrival at destination it is found that goods have been improperly described and that a lower rate than that correctly applicable has been thereby obtained, charges at double the highest rate in force will be levied, calculated on the entire distance over which the consignment has been carried.

12. Dimensions and weights.—(a) The dimensions of any package must not be greater than the following:—

length	...	12 feet
width	...	2 feet
height	...	2 feet

(b) (i) The weight of any package or article must not be less than 5 seers or more than 4 maunds.

(ii) Subject to the above, any package or article, which exceeds 4 feet in length, may weigh up to 4 maunds, any package or article of a length of 4 feet or less must not weigh more than 3 maunds.

(iii) The weight of any consignment of goods in through booking must not be less than 14 seers.

13. Rates.—(a) The maximum rate for charge for all parcels and goods, as authorised by the Bengal Government, vide notification No. 889T.R., dated 19th June 1936, is annas 5 per maund between Darjeeling and Bijanbari.

(b) Rates for luggage, parcels and goods are as follows:—

Between.			As. per md.
Bijanbari and Chongtong		...	... 2
Do.	Singtam Factory	...	... 3
Do.	Darjeeling and via	...	... 5
Chongtong and	do.	...	... 4
Singtam Factory and	do.	...	... 3

(c) The above rates are inclusive of transhipment charges at Darjeeling.

(d) The minimum weight for charge for luggage, parcels, and goods is 20 seers and the minimum charge per consignment is annas 2.

(e) All Ropeway charges are levied separately in through booking.

(f) Fractions of an anna of less than six pies will be dropped and six pies and over will be taken as one anna.

(g) Fractions of a maund are charged for as follows:—

Parcels.			Goods.
1 to 10 srs.	...	¼ md.	14 to 20 srs.	...	½ md.
10 to 20 ,,	...	½ ,,	20 to 30 ,,	...	¾ ,,
20 to 30 ,,	...	¾ ,,	30 to 40 ,,	...	1 ,,
30 to 40 ,,	...	1 ,,	40 to 50 ,,	...	1¼ ,,
40 to 50 ,,	...	1¼ ,,	and so on.
and so on.

14. Risk notes.—(a) In through booking senders will be required to execute risk notes in conformity with Railway rules for the railway portion of the journey and can avail themselves of the alternative railway risk and owner's risk rates in force over the railway portion of the journey.

(b) Consignments will be treated as at ropeway risk over the ropeway with the exception that, when a consignment is not so packed or secured as to withstand damage, if fairly handled and in ordinary circumstances, or damage from damp or rain, the Ropeway Company will not accept it for carriage unless the sender, by the execution of a risk note in the Railway Form "A", absolves the Ropeway Company from all liability for damage or shortage; provided that the expression "shortage" shall not cover the loss of a complete package or article.

15. Insurance.—(a) Parcels and goods can be insured against total loss and against damage in transit at a rate of 1 per cent. on the declared value, subject to a minimum of Rs. 3 per consignment. This charge is separate from insurance charges for the railway portion of the journey, which are governed by the rules in force on Railways.

(b) Insurance charges must always be prepaid.

(c) No package will be accepted for insurance, unless it is packed in such a manner that it is not likely to be damaged, if fairly handled. Valuables such as jewellery, etc., must be packed and sealed in such a manner that any tampering could be easily detected. The station seal must be used in addition to the consignor's private seal.

(d) The Ropeway Company reserves the right to examine the contents of any parcel declared to contain valuables, so as to satisfy itself that the parcel actually contains the articles declared to be therein.

16. Notice of arrival.—The Ropeway Company does not undertake to serve notice of arrival of luggage, parcels, or goods on consignees or their agents, and non-receipt of such notice will not entitle consignees to exemption from wharfage charges, when luggage, parcels, or goods are not taken delivery of within the free time allowed. Postcard notices of arrival will, however, without prejudice to the above, be sent, whenever possible, by Station Masters to consignees.

17. Wharfage.—All luggage, parcels, or goods must be removed from the Company's premises within 48 hours from midnight of the date of arrival. Failing this, consignments will, after the expiry of that period, be subject to a wharfage charge of one anna per maund, or part thereof, per day or part of day. Sundays, Christmas Day and Good Friday are "dies non" and when any of these days fall within the 48 hours allowed, an additional 24 hours will be allowed free.

18. Discrepancies found on re-weighment.—Differences between the invoiced weight and the weight on re-weighment may be neglected if the difference does not exceed 2 per cent., provided that the total difference on the whole consignment does not exceed 5 maunds.

In the case of commodities liable to lose weight in transit the correct weight chargeable is that of the booking station, unless it can be shown that the weight entered on the invoice is incorrect.

19. Partial delivery of consignments.—A consignee must take delivery of luggage, parcels, or goods, forming part of a consignment, whenever they are available for delivery, notwithstanding the fact that the remainder of the consignment is short or damaged or has not arrived at destination or is otherwise not available for delivery. If a consignee does not take delivery of such luggage, parcels, or goods, forming part of a consignment, as are available for delivery, they will be subject to the usual wharfage charges, if not removed within the free time allowed.

20. Disfigured receipts.—Ropeway or Railway receipts should on no account be disfigured or mutilated, as they will not be accepted in an imperfect state.

21. Delivery when Ropeway or Railway receipt is lost.—When a Ropeway or Railway receipt has been lost, mislaid, or is for other reason not forthcoming, the company reserves the right to demand an indemnity bond, before giving delivery of the articles concerned.

22. Haulage charge on missent goods.—When a consignment is overcarried or missent from a Railway to a station on the Ropeway, the haulage charge over the Ropeway for returning the consignment, either to the sending Railway or to the correct destination, as the case may be, will be two-thirds of the total freight for the upward and downward journeys as per Ropeway rates. Such consignments will in all circumstances be re-booked under "To Pay" invoices.

23. Re-booking.—Whenever luggage, parcels, or goods, lying undelivered, are required to be re-consigned to another station or to be sent back to the original forwarding station, the consignor or the consignee (as the case may be) will be required to pay the charges due for the original consignment as well as the charges for the re-booking.

24. Time-limit of claims for refund or compensation.—No person shall be entitled to a refund of an overcharge in respect of animals or goods carried by an aerial ropeway for public traffic or to compensation for the loss, destruction or deterioration of animals or goods delivered to be so carried, unless his claim to the refund or compensation has been preferred in writing by him or on his behalf to the promoter within six months from the date of the delivery of the animals or goods for carriage by the Ropeway (Chapter V, section 39, of the Bengal Aerial Ropeways Act, 1923).

25. Offensive goods.—The following articles are under the Indian Railways Act, IX of 1890, declared to be offensive goods:—

(1) Blood dried. (2) Corpses. (3) Carcases of dead animals. (4) Bones. (5) Municipal or street sweepings or refuse. (6) Manures of any kind, except chemical manures. (7) Rags, other than oily rags. (8) Any decayed animal or vegetable matter.

These goods will not be carried except under special arrangements, which should be made in advance with the Assistant Traffic Superintendent, Kurseong, or the Station Master concerned.

26. Dangerous goods and explosives.—(a) Subject to the rules and conditions in force on the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway and as per the red pamphlet issued by the Indian Railway Conference Association, the following dangerous goods will be accepted for carriage over the Ropeway:—

Safety Matches.
Petrol.
Crude Oil.
Gas Oil.
Kerosine Oil or Paraffin Oil, Non-Dangerous.
Rosin Oil.
Turpene.
Carbide of Calcium.
Oily Bagging.
Oily Canvas.
Oily Covers.
Oily Paper.
Oily Rags.
Oily Waste.
Compressed or Liquefied Carbonic Acid Gas.

(b) In all cases special arrangements must be made in advance with the Assistant Traffic Superintendent, Kurseong, or the Station Master concerned.

(c) Dangerous goods and explosives, not mentioned in the above list, cannot be carried.

No. 13-I.—6th April 1939.—It is hereby notified for general information that in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor intends to make the following rules and fix the following rates of tolls for the line of navigation known as the Surjamani khal in the district of Bakarganj and as defined in the notification No. 10-I., dated the 6th April 1939.

2. Any objection or suggestion with respect thereto should reach the undersigned before the 29th May 1939:—

Rules and rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the district board of Bakarganj on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, and other similar types of boats.

Class II—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats, and barges and other square-built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of the Canals Act and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

Class I.

A. The product of one quarter of the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees.—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

Class II.

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills, or in the case of steamers the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which shall be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the serang, manjhee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket shall be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and shall be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of the Crown, of the district board or other local bodies, or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the district board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length or 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canal.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels, empty or laden, per hundred maunds—Eight annas.

(2) On all vessels, empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less—One anna.

(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber or other similar articles not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth—Four annas each raft.

Tolls shall be levied at Dwipasa and Bauphal.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at ten times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month, i.e., provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. PART IV A

Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Assembly; Reports of Select Committees presented or to be presented to that Assembly; and Bills published before introduction in that Assembly.

BENGAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1921L.A. - 15th May 1939.—The following report of the Committee of Privileges with a draft Powers and Privileges Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed, is hereby published for general information.

Report of the Committee of Privileges constituted for the purpose of drafting a Bill embodying Privileges of the Assembly.

We, the members of the Committee of Privileges, beg to report as follows:—

In pursuance of a resolution carried in the Assembly on the 14th February, 1938, the Committee of Privileges was constituted by Mr. Speaker and the first meeting of the Committee was held on the 5th April, 1938. As desired by the Committee, Mr. Speaker prepared a draft Bill and a note on parliamentary privileges (Annexure I). The Committee met on the 7th July, 1938, and thereafter from time to time to consider the note and the draft Bill. In the meantime, Mr. Speaker consulted some of the eminent constitutional lawyers of India. After careful consideration of the various provisions of the Bill prepared by Mr. Speaker, and the opinions received by him, a Bill on Powers and Privileges has now been drafted mainly on the basis of the aforesaid Bill and we recommend that the Bill may be introduced by Mr. Deputy Speaker at an early date in this session. We are of opinion that the Bill should be referred to a Select Committee, if possible, in this Session, with instructions that the Select Committee may take the opinion of eminent lawyers and legal bodies including the Hon'ble High Court and may present its report at the beginning of the next Sessions of the Assembly so that the Bill in its final form may be taken into consideration and passed by the end of the next sessions. As the question of privileges equally affects the other Provincial Legislatures and also the Central Legislatures. the Select Committee may invite the opinions of the Hon'ble Presidents and Hon'ble Speakers of all the Provincial Legislatures, as also of the Hon'ble President of the Council of State and of the Indian Legislative Assembly.

We agree in substance with what has been termed "Intermediate procedure" in Mr. Speaker's note and we recommend that an attempt may be made to follow the procedure outlined there.

It is only necessary for us to add that it is not very easy to determine the exact nature of the future powers and privileges of the members of the Assembly. On the one hand, the legislatures in India suffer from the restriction on their powers to function as courts. On the other hand, conditions in India, in administration and parliamentary traditions, are different from what they are in Great Britain. Measures which may, therefore, be wholly unnecessary in England may be essential in India. Parliament can in exigencies always find its remedies in the unwritten law of the Parliament. In India, nothing can be claimed unless it finds place in some statutory provisions.

We realise that while there are provisions in the Bill which will be generally agreed to, there may be some provisions which may present legal or constitutional difficulties or may raise controversies. But we are satisfied that while there may be difference of opinion on the desirability or expediency of some of the provisions, the Assembly is competent to enact a measure like one recommended by us. In any case, the present Bill may be the basis on which the varying problems may be approached and opinions invited. It will be for the Select Committee to recommend, after taking into consideration authoritative legal opinions and the views that may be elicited, the form in which the Bill should ultimately take shape, both from the points of view of the expediency and the desirability of the detailed provisions as also from legal and constitutional points of view.

In all bi-cameral legislatures, it is the convention that each House should determine its own privileges and we have therefore purposely drafted the Bill only for the Assembly. We recommend that a copy of our report may be sent to the other House, so that, that House may know the reasons why we have not included the Council within the scope of our Bill. Should the other House consider necessary, another Bill, either on the same line as this Bill or with such modifications as may be considered necessary, may be duly brought before the Legislature.

Our task was no doubt difficult and it has taken a considerable amount of time. This province was the first to consider the question of privileges of a legislature from varying points of view and we had very little guidance before us in our task. The existing law, practice and conventions in the legislatures of India, were of very little help, nor was it possible to follow the parliamentary privileges in England without necessary adjustment to fit in with the scheme of the Government of India Act and the special circumstances of the conditions in India. We realise that legislative privileges must grow with the development of parliamentary Government and parliamentary traditions. We have only laid an outline for our present purposes and in that spirit and with a faith in the future, we commend our report for the consideration of the Assembly.

Trial of cases.

34. Except as otherwise provided for and subject to the provisions of this Act, the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code and of the Indian Evidence Act shall apply to all cases arising out of offences under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under section 71 of the Government of India Act, every legislature has now the power to define its own privileges, with this restriction that it cannot function as a Court to punish any breach of privileges. The Bill therefore provides for the trial of all such breaches by the Courts.

In order that the legislative duties of a member may not be hampered in any way, the Bill provides that a member should not be liable to arrest, detention or imprisonment in any civil proceedings or under any civil process during Assembly session and for a period of two weeks before and after and that he should be exempt from personal appearance in any civil or revenue court during sessions and should also be exempt from liability to serve as jurors or assessors.

The Government of India Act provides that a chamber of a Legislature may declare the seat of a member vacant, if he is absent without permission of the chamber, for sixty days from all meetings. If a member is therefore detained, convicted or imprisoned on a criminal charge or otherwise, compelling him to be absent from the sittings of the Assembly, it is necessary that the Assembly should have information of the fact and the Bill therefore makes necessary provision for such information being sent to the Assembly.

It is not intended that beyond sending such informations, there should be any interference with the administration of the criminal law, but so long a member remains a member of a legislature, in which special interests apart from territorial representation, have been specially provided for, it is possible that a member's presence, even though he is under detention or imprisonment, may be necessary for the purpose of the Assembly and provision has therefore been made for bringing such member under proper escort before Mr. Speaker for such period as may be required for such special purposes and if considered necessary and desirable.

It has also been provided that a member accused of a bailable offence should be given bail to enable him to attend to his legislative duties except on days his trial may be fixed.

The Bill also provides for freedom of movement of a member within the province unless by virtue of the operation of the criminal law of the land, his movement is restricted in any manner.

The Bill provides that Mr. Speaker should be exempt from personal appearance in any court and unless convicted in due course of law should not be liable to be arrested, detained or imprisoned on any criminal process or in any criminal proceeding. This is obviously necessary so that the work of the legislature may not be disorganised or paralysed. Exemption of certain class of persons from personal appearance in criminal courts is not without precedence in the law of this country.

The Bill provides that no civil or criminal process should be served within the Assembly House nor should such process served through Mr. Speaker.

Salaries and allowances of members as also of Mr. Speaker and the Ministers are necessary emoluments for the proper functioning of the Legislature and the Bill therefore provides that they should not be liable to attachment or sale, in execution of a decree.

Provision has been made for the summoning of witnesses by the Assembly and detailed provisions have been made for this purpose. While witnesses are made immune from any civil or criminal liability for their evidence, any refusal to attend or giving of false evidence is made a penal offence.

In order that there may not be any doubt as to legal liabilities of persons connected with the publications, by order of Mr. Speaker, of the Assembly papers, the Bill provides that no one should be liable in law for such publications.

Faithful and correct report of the proceedings of the Assembly or faithful and fair summary reports in newspapers, are made immune from any liability in law.

The Bill provides for certain penal offences and for legislative contempts and makes provision for special procedure and special rules of evidence for such offences. It is intended that no such case should be taken cognisance of by any court except on the complaint of Mr. Speaker who is also given power to withdraw such cases. These offences include bribery and acceptance of money in relation to legislative works.

Following the procedure in England, provision has been made for the constitution of a tribunal of High Court Judges to investigate into matters of urgent public importance, if so desired by a resolution of the Assembly. Momentous matters are likely to arise from time to time and a judicial enquiry is always the best method for proper enquiry and investigations into such matters of public importance. The budget disclosures sometime back in England were referred to a judicial tribunal of this nature. This Bill provides for exactly similar procedure in such circumstances.

Various other matters are also provided in the Bill arising out of privileges and for the proper functioning of the legislature.

ANNEXURE I.

Note on Parliamentary Privileges.

By a resolution carried in the last session of the Bengal Legislative Assembly a Committee of Privileges was constituted to go into the question of the existing privileges of a member and to report upon such privileges as a member should have and to take up other matters incidental thereto. There were several other specific matters also referred to the Committee of Privileges from time to time.

The first meeting of the Committee was convened on the 5th April last. The Committee desired that I should prepare a note on the subject of parliamentary privileges in England, in the Colonies and in the Dominions as also the privileges of the Legislatures in India with an outline of a draft Bill to form the basis of discussion and consideration at the next meeting of the Committee of Privileges.

In accordance with this decision of the Committee I have prepared a note on the subject. I am afraid the note is lengthy, but the question of privilege is of considerable importance for the future working of the Legislature and the subject of parliamentary privileges in England and in the Dominions and the Colonies is vast and I have tried to deal with the problem as fully as possible.

It is possible that certain aspects of the question have been omitted, but the time at my disposal was very short to go thoroughly into the entire range of the question of privilege and I do not in any way claim to have that knowledge which is so pre-eminently necessary to deal with a vast problem like this. I hope the members will therefore kindly take this note subject to this limitation.

The note is divided into three main Chapters; the first deals with the parliamentary privileges including those in the Colonies and the Dominions, the second deals with the position of privileges in the Indian Legislature and the third is a draft Bill as a basis for discussion. The draft Bill has been prepared on the assumption that the Legislature is competent to pass the various provisions into law, but it would be necessary to take the advice of constitutional lawyers and to examine every section and sub-section with special reference to the competency of the Legislature and it will also be necessary for the Committee to consider the desirability, expediency or necessity for the various proposals outlined in the Bill.

I have had occasion to discuss the question of privilege with many persons; the subject was also taken up at the last Conference of Speakers at Delhi; I have also had the opportunity to know the individual views of many members as to how they individually would like to have the privileges settled and shaped. The Bill attempts to place these various shades of views and opinions within one compass irrespective of consideration of their necessity and desirability which is a matter for the Committee of Privileges to consider. I hope the Bill will be taken as nothing more than merely providing a basis for discussion and consideration and not in any way an expression of opinion on my part. The question of privilege in India has been similarly discussed and I have tried to place the plausive arguments from various points of view. That also may not be taken as any expression of my views in the matter.

I have purposely omitted any reference to the privileges of the Council. By parliamentary convention matters of privilege are primarily for each Chamber to consider. It would be for the Council to examine the various proposals in the form and shape in which they emerge from the Committee of Privileges and thereafter from the Assembly and to consider whether the Council would also like to have the same privileges.

It is proposed that the next meeting of the Committee of Privileges will be convened at Darjeeling at an early date and I hope in the meantime members will be kind enough to go through this note. It will be extremely helpful if it could be possible for the members to send me their views and suggestions. If there has been any omission in the treatment of the subject or in the proposals or if there has been any mis-statement of facts I hope members will also kindly inform me.

M. AZIZUL HAQUE,
Speaker,
Bengal Legislative Assembly.

The 20th April, 1938.

CHAPTER I.

Parliamentary Privileges.

Difficulty of definition.

It is difficult to define the term "Privileges of Parliament". One may aim at a fair description, one may find out the nature and extent of the privileges, but it is not easy to define in abstract the term "privileges" and it is still more difficult to distinguish between rights and privileges. Both the terms are freely used singly or together, to describe the many understandings, conventions, practices and usages. Some privileges may be found in statutory enactments, some in records of judicial proceedings, others are to be collected from proceedings and records of Parliaments. But all are claimed as "ancient and undoubted rights and privileges" of Parliament and derive their sanction and authority from the fact that Parliament is not only the sovereign legislative body but functions as the High Court of Parliament.

Growth of Privileges.

Redlich Vol. I, p. 44.

The constitutional history of England is intimately intertwined with the history and development of privileges and centuries of parliamentary struggle have made them what they are to day "The incessant parliamentary struggles for the first half of the seventeenth century were conducted almost from beginning to end as quarrels over the privileges of the House of Commons, at times with the Lords, at times with the Crown or its ministers. From the very nature of procedure and privilege the boundary between them is in many parts purely theoretical and consequently the heightened watchfulness of the Commons, and their constructive conservatism in matters of privilege benefited the whole parliamentary law, inclusive of procedure, upon which its effects were both fruitful and strengthening."

Power of the Parliament.

Chalmers and Asquith, p 82.

Within the orbit of its privileges, either House of Parliament is supreme and no appeal lies from its decisions. It can accuse, condemn and execute, reprimand, fine or imprison without any interference, and can punish members and outsiders for contempt.

Claims of Privileges.

All parliamentary privileges are part of the law of the constitution, so that Parliament may freely and effectually do its duties in discharge of its constitutional functions and its functions include the right to enquire into the entire administration, judicial and executive, except such as are barred or limited by statutory laws made by Parliament. In the long years of the constitutional struggle, the British Parliament has claimed that its rights and privileges are its inheritance, part of the unwritten law of the land and only to be interpreted by itself. "In this claim, the Courts may be said to have acquiesced except in so far as the legal rights of persons outside Parliament have been infringed, when conflicts of jurisdiction have arisen."

Campion, p. 40.

Lord Campbell on Privileges.

The most interesting treatment of the subject is to be found in the arguments of Lord Campbell, then Sir George Campbell, Attorney General in 1839 in the case of Stockdale vs. Hansard, before the Court of Queen's Bench. The speech comprises 270 printed pages and is a monumental survey of the law of privileges as claimed by the House of Commons. Lord Campbell's arguments were as follows:—

Speeches of Lord Campbell (Adam and Charles Black, 1842).

"The Houses of Parliament claim to be the sole and exclusive judges of their own privileges. No action is maintainable for an act done by their command and authority or in exercise of a privilege. They have the sole and exclusive jurisdiction to determine upon the existence and the extent of their privileges. Any person bringing action against an act done in pursuance of an order of Parliament is guilty of contempt of Parliament and there have been many occasions when Parliament brought such persons before the bar of the House and have dealt with summary punishment or imprisonment, fine or admonition. The courts cannot judge of the existence of any privilege claimed by Parliament but must take such privilege as a fact and the theory has all along been that any act done by authority of the House of Commons in the exercise of its privilege does not create any wrong done to a person and therefore there can be no remedy. The Parliament has never claimed to create any new privileges but has the power to declare what is the law of the land with respect to the privileges, and has also the power of saying what is the law of privilege. The theory behind is that all the privileges and rights are and have been in existence as ancient and undoubted rights. Once the question is raised directly and the alleged grievance for which an action is brought arises from an act of the House of Commons in the exercise of a privilege claimed by the Commons, the courts have no jurisdiction to enquire into the existence of the privilege. Whenever an act is done by either House of Parliament it is supposed to be within the jurisdiction of the House, as Parliament being a constituent part of the sovereign body can do no wrong. If a question of privilege arises incidentally without the House of Parliament being party to it, the courts of justice may enquire into and may consider the existence of privilege, to prevent failure of justice, in the same manner as they would consider questions of foreign law arising incidentally; but whenever the question of privilege has arisen directly, courts of law have no jurisdiction to enquire into such question. Again where an act of the House in exercise of its privilege is complained of, there is no such right or necessity. Even if it be any wrong done the remedy does not lie anywhere except to ask the House to reconsider its decision and to review its judgment. It is a constitutional postulate that the power of Parliament is never abused and any remedy for any abuse is in Parliament itself and Parliament exercises its function without control or interference by others. It has also been a constitutional convention that an act of any Chamber of the Legislature in a matter of privilege is the act of the entire Legislature, supposed to be done by the whole Parliament and in a matter of privilege there is no distinction between one Chamber and the other, both being co-ordinate and equal authority. The existence of one Chamber is an integral part of the entire Legislature and is recognised to be a part of the Constitution. The elected House of Commons represents the whole commonalty of the realm and acts of the House of Commons are the acts of the whole mass of population of all degrees and orders, exclusive of individuals who form the other House of Parliament. All are supposed to be present and concur in the vote of majority. The House of Commons is the whole commonalty of the realm assembled and body entrusted with not only the legislative power but as the grand inquest of the nation. It belongs to the Legislature to superintend the administration of the laws and to control the courts of justice. Whenever there is a corruption existing or any oppression done it belongs to the House of Commons to enquire into the matter, to publish its proceedings as of right essential in the exercise of its inquisitorial and legislative functions. The House of Commons claims all the authorities of the court and all the power necessary to the due discharge of its constitutional function. In the constitutional history of England this power has in fact been exercised in which judges of courts have been called upon to appear in person to be examined before the committee of the House of Commons to enquire into any complaint of misdemeanour against them in their office as judges. It should be understood that judges were summoned to make them answer not respecting their decisions on point of law even if wrong, but acts of misconduct of judges for which the law of the land does not give an ordinary remedy or redress. This distinction between erroneous judgment and corruption and oppression by judges is definite and well known, for the erroneous judgment law always points out the remedy by appeal or a petition of revision but for corruption and oppression it is for the Parliament to enquire as the supreme superintending authority of the court. Judges have been actually called to answer their misconduct. The Lord Chief Justice of England and other judges had to plead before the bar as to the propriety of their proceedings. Immediately after the great revolution Chief Justice Pemberton and Mr. Justice Jones were summoned before the House of Commons and committed for a breach of privilege in their judgment in the case of Jay vs. Topham. The mere fact that a right may not be exercised for many years does not abolish the right and the House of Commons has still the same power to enquire into the administration of law, its abuse, corruption and oppression."

10 C. J. 227.

The arguments have been quoted in extenso, as indicating the attitude of Parliament in its claims of privileges.

Conflict of Jurisdiction.

May, pp. 141, 147.

It seems that the limit of the jurisdiction of the courts of law and that of parliamentary privilege is not yet very precise and satisfactory. "Assertions of privilege have been made in Parliament and denied in Courts." There have been historic controversies. The Commons have frequently viewed all legal proceedings in derogation of their authority as a breach of privilege and contempt. "They have restrained suitors and their counsel by prohibition and punishment, they have imprisoned judges, they have coerced the sheriff; but still the law has taken its course." Mr. Justice Littledale in Stockdale vs. Hansard, while accepting that Parliament is the sole judge of its privileges, said—"I do not think it follows that they have a power to declare what their privileges are, so as to preclude an enquiry whether what they declare are part of their privileges." From time to time Parliament has passed statutes to define its privileges, but they were not new creations, but what were claimed to be existing as ancient and undoubted rights and intended to avoid conflicts with courts or conflict of jurisdiction.

Privileges claimed.

There are certain privileges which at the commencement of every Parliament the Speaker claims addressing the Lord Chancellor in the name and on behalf of the Commons as "their ancient and undoubted rights and privileges", and they are "most readily confirmed and granted" by His Majesty through the Lord Chancellor. They are :—

(1) Freedom from arrest and molestations.

(2) Liberty of speech in all their debates.

(3) Access to His Majesty.

(4) Most favourable construction to be put upon all their proceedings by His Majesty.

Other Privileges.

There are other privileges not claimed by the Speaker :—

(1) Right to regulate its own constitution, including right to settle disputed elections, to pronounce on legality of an election, on legality of qualifications for membership, right to suspend and expel members—though Parliament has devolved upon law courts the hearing of election petitions.

(2) Right to take exclusive cognisance of what happens within its walls.

(3) Right to punish members and outsiders for contempt.

(4) Right of impeachment.

(5) Right to control finance and initiate financial legislation.

Freedom from arrest and molestation.

The privilege of freedom from arrest is during the continuance of session and for forty days before its commencement and after its conclusion. It operates to take a member out of custody within the limits of the period of privilege and to the extent the privilege is applicable. This privilege does not mean that a person loses his right of action. It only remains in abeyance, and revives after the expiry of privilege. No other process is to be stayed by reason of privilege and the privilege does not extend to immunity from imprisonment on a charge of an indictable offence or of treason, felony or breach of peace, or for contempt of court. The reason behind fixing the period of immunity for forty days before and after a session is now shrouded behind the practice of long custom.

(Unexplained but judicially confirmed in the case of Gouldy vs. Duncombe, 1 Exch. 430.)

Forty Days' rule.

Forty days was the period of the notice of summons required in Magna Charta. Anson therefore seems to hold that this period was intended to cover the utmost time required by a member for coming to a Parliament and returning home. The period of forty days holds good after a dissolution as well as after prorogation as much as in the case of a new election. It may be mentioned that the immunity is only applicable to the members of the Commons, for the "immunity of Peers" is perpetual.

Information relating to arrest on a criminal charge.

Campion, p. 12
May, p. 122.

Though there is no immunity on a criminal charge, the House always expects that in any case of arrest on criminal charges, it should be informed of the cause of the arrest. "In the case of several Acts suspending the Habeas Corpus Act, it has been provided that the cause of the arrest shall be first communicated to the House and its leave obtained, but generally communication is made after the arrest by letter to the Speaker by the committing judge or magistrate and after conviction the Speaker is informed of the offence and sentence "

Service of criminal process.

Service of criminal process on a member within the precincts of Parliament whilst the House is sitting and without leave of the House is considered a breach of privilege.

Witnesses and officers.

The same immunity from arrest and molestation is extended to witnesses and to officers and others in personal attendance on the House.

Subpoena to attend as a witness.

Anson, p. 159.

Juries Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vic. c. 77, sec. 9).

Akin to this privilege is the privilege, now always waived, of resisting a subpoena to attend as a witness, and the privilege, now confirmed by statute, of exemption from liability to serve as a juror.

Freedom of speech.

Within the House there is complete freedom of speech. Speech and action in Parliament are unquestioned and a member is not liable to question in any legal action. But this is the right of the House and as such the House may and does in fact control the action of its own members by its own rules and conventions of debate and it can enforce this control by censure, suspension, commitment or expulsion. By rules and conventions of the House, a member whilst speaking may not utter treasonable or seditious words or use the King's name irreverently or to influence debate, refer to matters pending a judicial decision, make personal allusions to members or use offensive or insulting language to either House or to individual members of either House or to Parliament collectively.

Strangers.

The House has always the right to exclude strangers and to debate within closed doors and the Speaker may at any time order the withdrawal of strangers from any part of the House.

Freedom of publication of debates.

The House has the sole right to publish its votes and proceedings. Even now the reporting and publishing of proceedings in newspapers are made on sufferance. Reporters may at any time be asked to withdraw and the House may at any time resolve that any publication of its proceedings is a breach of privilege.

No privilege to publish debates by members or any other persons.

Though there is full freedom of speech, there is no such right to the publication of debate. A member within the walls may say what he pleases and is protected by the general privilege of the House. But if he chooses to circulate outside the House statements made within it, he does so at his own peril and if they contain defamatory matter he is liable to proceedings for libel.

The case of Stockdale vs. Hansard however fixed the limits of the right of the House to publish it's proceedings and settled that such publication if defamatory is actionable, unless it is confined to the members of the House.

"Directly a publication ceases to be limited to the use of members of the House, the law of libel takes effect." The Parliament however claimed that it had the right to publish its papers and proceedings not only for the members but for the public. "The House of Commons have long perceived that they could not properly legislate and enquire without from time to time communicating to the public the information which they have collected and on which they proceed. This is not a country in which it can be constitutionally said that the people have nothing to do with the laws but to obey them. The proceeding on which laws are framed, must be understood—must be approved of—that the laws may be respected and obeyed."

Anson, p. 165.

Lord Campbell' speech in Stockdale vs. Hansard.

The adverse decision in the case of Stockdale vs. Hansard was met by the enactment of Parliamentary Papers Act, 1840 (3 & 4 Vict., C. 9). It provides that all papers printed by order of either House and all faithful copies are privileged, that "Proceedings, criminal or civil against persons for the publication of papers printed by order of either House of Parliament, shall be immediately stayed, on the production of a certificate, verified by affidavit, to the effect that such publication is by order of either House of Parliament. Proceedings are also to be stayed, if commenced on account of the publication of a copy of a parliamentary paper, upon the verification of the correctness of such copy; and in proceedings commenced for printing any extract from, or abstract of, a parliamentary report or paper, the defendant may give the report in evidence under the general issue, and prove that his own extract or abstract was published bona fide and without malice; and if such shall be the opinion of the jury, a verdict of not guilty will be entered."

May, p. 109.

Faithful report of proceedings.

In a case decided before the Court of Queen's Bench, it was held that publication of a fair and faithful report of proceedings in Parliament, even though defamatory is lawful on the part of newspapers if such publication is made with no hostile or malicious intention, but Cockburn, C.J., made careful distinction as between a publication by a newspaper and a member publishing his speech. "There is obviously a distinction between the publication of a speech made in Parliament for the express purpose of attacking the conduct of an individual, and afterwards published with a like purpose or effect, and the faithful publication of parliamentary reports in their entirety, with a view to afford information to the public, and with a total absence of hostile intention or malicious motive towards any one."

Wason vs. Walter, L. R. 4 Q. B., p. 86.

Anson, p. 167.

"In Wason vs. Walter (1868), L.R. 4, Q.B. 73; Thomas 157, it was held that true and faithful reports of Parliamentary debates could not form the ground work of an action for libel. Cockburn, C.J., after remarking that reports of parliamentary proceedings were on the same legal footing as judicial proceedings, observed that it was of paramount public and national importance that parliamentary proceedings should be communicated to the public, which has the deepest interest in knowing what passes in Parliament. But a garbled or partial report, or a report of detached parts of proceedings, published with intent to injure individuals will, as in the case of reports of judicial proceedings, be disentitled to protection.

Chalmers, and Asquith, p. 87.

Comments are privileged if made upon a matter of public interest with an honest belief in their justice, and with such reasonable moderation as in the opinion of the jury to amount to fair and legitimate criticism of the conduct and motives of the person concerned."

Mangena vs. Lloyd, 98, L. T. 640. Magnena vs. Wright, 2 K. B., 958.

Publication of an extract of an abstract of a parliamentary paper published bona fide and without malice is protected from an action for libel under the Parliamentary Papers Act of 1840, but the protection does not extend to the headline which is not a part of the report.

Exclusive cognisance of matters within the House.

Anson, p. 167. Mr. Justice Stephen in Bradlaugh vs. Gosset, 12 Q. B. D., 280.

Short of a criminal offence, the courts have no power to interfere with the internal affairs concerning the House. The House can regulate its own internal concerns. It can make its own interpretation of its own laws, and having the power of expulsion it has the power to effect expulsion by the use of necessary force. "It seems to follow that the House of Commons has the exclusive power of interpreting the statute, so far as the regulation of its own proceedings within its own walls is concerned; and that, even if that interpretation should be erroneous, this Court has no power to interfere with it directly or indirectly."

Freedom of access to His Majesty.

Campion, p. 40.

The privilege of freedom of access is not for the access of members of the House of Commons as individuals—a right which is possessed by individual peers—but for the House as a body headed by the Speaker and only for the purpose of presenting an address. Its importance in modern times only lies as a mode of giving emphasis to any communication which the Commons may desire to make to the Sovereign, but the House can now usually communicate its collective views through other means.

Impeachment.

Chalmers and Asquith, p. 45.

"An impeachment is a judicial proceeding against a Lord or a Commoner who is accused of a high crime, or misdemeanour or of treason or felony. The Commons are the accusers, the Lords the judges both of fact and law in such case." It is now obsolete in practice. The last two cases of Impeachment were that of Warren Hastings in 1786 and of Lord Melville in 1804.

Right to control finance and initial financial legislation.

Chalmers and Asquith, p. 79.

This privilege has been undoubted claim of the Commons and has been the occasion for many historic disputes between the Lords and Commons. The Parliament Act of 1911 has finally settled the last phase of this conflict and has assured the supremacy of the Commons. "In effect the Parliament Act wholly abolished the Lords' veto over Money Bills and substituted for their absolute veto over other legislation a suspensive veto of two years."

Payment of members.

There are some who consider the salary and allowance of the members as in the nature of a privilege. By many it is not regarded in the light of a privilege. For all practical purposes, it now depends upon a statutory enactment, payable by the Exchequer and the payment is not conditional upon attendance. Originally the payment of members was a Common law liability of the constituencies and subject to the attendance of members until the close of the session.

In Dominions and Colonies.

It is not necessary to go into details as to the position of privileges in Dominion and Colonial Parliaments. They have the same powers and privileges as the British Parliament and can define their own privileges so long they do not exceed those of British Parliament.

In paragraph 916 on page 536, Volume 10 of Halsbury's Laws of England, the power of the Colonial Legislature to deal with legislative contempts is expressed in the following terms:

> "Powers, however, to adopt as their own the privileges, powers and immunities of the House of Commons of the United Kingdom have been expressly granted to the Dominion and to the Provinces of Canada: to the Commonwealth of Australia, and to Victoria, Western Australia, and South Australia: to the Transvaal, the Orange River Colony, and Natal and indeed to every Colony whose Legislature comprises a legislative body of which one-half is elected by the inhabitants of the Colony."

The latest cases are those of Southern Rhodesia and of Ceylon. The Act constituting the Southern Rhodesia Parliament definitely enumerates certain privileges and then there is a general clause which says "further it is provided generally that in all matters not mentioned a privilege of the Commons of the United Kingdom as it existed on the 1st September, 1923, shall apply and that any further privileges not exceeding those then enjoyed by the House of Commons may be added by later Acts, etc."

The general position with reference to the powers of the Colonial Legislature is given in the following extract from Halsbury:

> "Without express grant, a Colonial Legislature possesses no power to protect itself against obstruction, interruption or disturbance of the proceedings by misconduct of any of the members in the course of those proceedings, except such as are necessary to the existence of such a body and the proper exercise of the functions which it is intended to execute. Whatever in a reasonable sense is necessary for those purposes is impliedly granted, whenever any such legislative body is established by competent authority. For these purposes protective and self-defensive powers only and not punitive are necessary. Therefore Legislative Assemblies in the British Colonies have, in the absence of express grant, no power to adjudicate upon, or punish for contempts committed either in their presence or beyond their presence."

The Privy Council also held that without express authority from Parliament a Colonial Legislature cannot confer upon itself the privileges of the House of Commons or the power to punish any breach of these privileges by imprisonment or committal for contempt; to fill up this lacuna the Colonial Laws Validity Act (1865), 28-29 Vic, Chap. 63, was passed.

Canada.

Under section 18 of the British North America Act, 1867, "the Privileges, Immunities and Powers to be held, enjoyed and exercised by the Senate and by the House of Commons and by the Members thereof respectively shall be such as are from time to time defined by Act of the Parliament of Canada, but so that the same shall never exceed those at the passing of this Act held, enjoyed and exercised by the Commons House of Parliament of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and by the Members thereof."

Ireland.

Under Article 20 of the Constitution of the Irish Free State Act (Saorstat Eireaun) 1922 "each House can make its own Rules and Standing Orders with power to attach penalties for their infringement and shall have power to ensure freedom of debate, to protect its official documents and the private papers of its members against any person or persons interfering with, molesting or attempting to corrupt its members in the exercise of their duties."

South Africa.

Under South Africa Act, 1909, section 57, "the Powers, Privileges and Immunities in the Senate and of the House of Assembly and of the Members and Committees of each House shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be such as are declared by Parliament and until declared shall be those of the House of the Assembly of the Cape of Good Hope and of its Members and Committees at the establishment of the Union."

Australia.

By Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act, section 49, "the Powers, Privileges and Immunities of the Senate and of the House of the Representatives, and of the Members of Committees of each House, shall be such as declared by the Parliament and until declared shall be those of the Commons House of Parliament of the United Kingdom, and of its Members and Committees, at the establishment of Commonwealth" and by section 50 of the Act, "each House of the Parliament may make Rules and Orders with respect to the mode in which its Powers, Privileges and Immunities may be exercised and upheld."

Ceylon.

Article 73 of the Ceylon (State Council) Order in Council, 1931, provides "that a law may be enacted to define the privileges, immunities and powers to be held, enjoyed and exercised by the State Council and by the Members thereof. The exercise of the power conferred by Article 73 is subject to the restriction that the privileges, immunities and powers so defined and assumed by law shall not exceed those for the time being held, enjoyed and exercised by the Commons House of Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland or the members thereof."

CHAPTER II.

Privileges under the India Constitution.

Statutory Limitation.

India has now a written constitution and the extent of the power of the Legislature must be found within the compass of the Government of India Act. Any approach to the question of privilege in India must recognise the statutory limitation of the Indian Legislature in having neither the power nor the status of a court. Yet privileges within this limitation must grow and develop and the constitutional history of the future will determine the nature and extent of future parliamentary privileges.

Section 71 of the India Act.

Section 71 of the India Act of 1935 is the statutory provision in respect of the privileges of a Provincial Legislature. The corresponding provision relating to the Federal Legislature is section 28 of the India Act, which is almost identical in terms with section 71 which runs as follows:—

"71. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and to rules and standing orders regulating the procedure of the Legislature, there shall be freedom of speech in every Provincial Legislature, and no member of the Legislature shall be liable to any proceedings in any court in respect of anything said or any vote given by him in the Legislature or any committee thereof, and no person shall be so liable in respect of the publication by or under the authority of a Chamber of such a Legislature of any report, paper, votes or proceedings.

(2) In other respects the privileges of members of a Chamber of a Provincial Legislature shall be such as may from time to time be defined by Act of the Provincial Legislature, and, until so defined, shall be such as were immediately before the commencement of this part of this Act enjoyed by members of the Legislative Council of the Province.

(3) Nothing in any existing Indian law, and, notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this section, nothing in this Act, shall be construed as conferring, or empowering any Legislature to confer, on a Chamber thereof or on both Chambers sitting together or any committee or officer of the Legislature, the status of a court, or any punitive or disciplinary powers other than the power to remove or exclude persons infringing the rules or standing orders, or otherwise behaving in a disorderly manner.

(4) Provision may be made by an Act of the Provincial Legislature for the punishment, on conviction before a court, of persons who refuse to give evidence or produce documents before a committee of a Chamber when duly required by the Chairman of a committee so to do:

Provided that any such Act shall have effect subject to such rules for regulating the attendance before such committees of persons who are, or have been, in the service of the Crown in India, and safeguarding confidential matter from disclosure, as may be made by the Governor exercising his individual judgment.

(5) The provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) of this section shall apply in relation to persons who by virtue of this Act have the right to speak in and otherwise take part in the proceedings of a Chamber as they apply in relation to members of the Legislature."

Implications of the qualifying clause.

Every Provincial Legislature has thus the privilege of freedom of speech, but "subject to the provisions of this Act and to Rules and Standing Orders regulating the procedure of the Legislature." The implications of this qualifying clause are not free from difficulty. Is the right of freedom of speech available only within the statutory limitations of the Act and within the restrictive provisions of the Rules and Standing Orders? Who is to judge whether a member is within the scope of the Act and speaks within the limits of Rules and Standing Orders? Have the Courts any jurisdiction to enquire as to whether a speech or a vote has been within the restrictions of the Rules and Standing Orders?

Effect of Rules and Standing Orders on freedom of speech.

Rule 12(1).

Rule 12(2)(v).

To illustrate, according to the present Bengal Rules and Standing Orders a member while speaking must be relevant to the matter before the Assembly and, in any case, he must not utter defamatory words in his speech. Is section 71 to be so interpreted that there is no right of freedom of speech, unless a member speaks relevant to the matter before the Assembly and that there is no such right if he utters defamatory words? In an action brought against a member, can the court go into the question of relevancy of a speech and hold that the speech of a member was irrelevant and that even if relevant his words were defamatory and as such he is not protected under the claim of privilege? Supposing on points of order raised during debate, the Speaker of the House holds that a member's speech was relevant and that his words were not defamatory, have the courts still the power to decide that the member was not relevant and that his words were defamatory?

In other words, in view of the qualifying clause in section 71, "subject to the provisions of this Act and to Rules and Standing Orders regulating the procedure", have the courts jurisdiction in every case to go into the question as to whether a speech is within the scope of the qualifying clause, and even nullify the decision of the Speaker of the House in matters of relevancy? If the interpretation is that freedom of speech is not available to a member when he is irrelevant, or when he is defamatory even if relevant, if the courts have power to go into the merits of the question of relevancy or into the question as to whether a speech is defamatory or not, irrespective of the Speaker's decision, if for every speech a member is in jeopardy of being brought up to court where he has to justify his speech and specially its relevancy and neither the Speaker nor the Legislature can give any protection to a member against individual vagaries, is not the right of freedom of speech reduced to in essence this that a member is not liable to prosecution or otherwise liable in law so long as he does not exceed the limits of the law?

The question, therefore, is--Is the right of freedom of speech an absolute and unqualified right or only available when functioning within the limits of law, Rules and Standing Orders and have the courts in every case the jurisdiction to decide if a member is within the limits of the qualifying clause, before the courts can consider the plea-in-bar about freedom of speech?

Under section 87 (2), the Speaker of the House is not subject to the jurisdiction of any court in respect of the exercise of his powers, but is there any protection for a member in ventilating grievances, wherein he may unwittingly give expressions to statements in the bona fide belief that they are true or in the hope that they will be remedied or investigated, and yet be liable to be indicted for defamation or otherwise liable in law? Is the position of a member no better than that of a common citizen, in the discharge of his duties as a member of a responsible Legislature and is a member just as much liable in law for discharging his constitutional duties as an average citizen? Would any member venture to ventilate grievances, unless there is complete immunity in the presentation of these grievances? These are the various phases of the implications of the law which the Committee of Privileges will have to consider.

Freedom of speech the right of the Legislature.

Subject, however, to the limitations as outlined above, the right of freedom of speech is the right of the Legislature as distinguished from the right of the member. A member is not liable to any proceedings in any court only in respect of anything said or any vote given within the Legislature or any Committee thereof, and a person is similarly not liable in respect of any publication by or under the authority of any Chamber of a Provincial Legislature of any report, paper, votes or proceedings. But a Legislature or any Chamber of a Legislature may lay down rules of debates, may place restrictions in speeches, may regulate abuse of the forms of debates and demarcate the limits between parliamentary freedom and unrestrained license within the walls of the House. The House has full power to control the action of its own members and can enforce it by censure, by suspension from the service of the House and by expulsion.

Publications not "by and authority" of a Chamber.

It also follows that any publication of any report, paper, votes or proceedings, not by or under the authority of a Chamber, comes within the ordinary law of the land and any member, who gives publicity to his own speech or gets it printed and published in newspapers or pamphlets, cannot claim the immunity arising out of his right of freedom of speech or of the right of the Legislature to publish its own proceedings. Similarly if any newspaper publishes any speech of any member, it will come under the ordinary law of the land and will be governed by the usual law of libel and defamation applicable to newspapers. There is thus no right of freedom of publication of proceedings given to any person, not even the member himself except in respect of such publications as are by or under the authority of the Legislature A court of law has jurisdiction over all other publications, if they are published by anybody, member or otherwise, without the authority of a Chamber, and all such cases are governed by the ordinary law of the land.

Premature publication.

As a necessary corollary of the present provisions in the India Act, any premature publication of questions, resolutions or other matters to be brought before the Legislature will make it liable to action in courts under the ordinary law of the land and nobody may claim privilege on the ground that they are intended to be brought up before the House

Legislative Competency.

The privileges of members of a Chamber of Legislature in all other respects may from time to time be defined by an Act of the Legislature and until so defined, shall be such as were before the commencement of the new constitution, enjoyed by the members of the old Legislature.

Absolute Prohibition.

There is however an absolute prohibition in sub-section (3) of section 71 of the Government of India Act, viz., the Legislature cannot confer on any Chamber or on both Chambers or any Committee or any officer of the Legislature the status of a court nor can invest such bodies or persons with any punitive or disciplinary powers except in so far as the Legislature may provide itself with the power to remove or exclude persons infringing the Rules or Standing Orders, or otherwise behaving in a disorderly manner inside the Legislature.

Power to create offences of contempts.

Thus in no circumstance can the Chamber itself assume power to punish contempt as a breach of privilege. But the question is—can the Legislature create offences as regards contempt, intimidation or insult against a member or against the House, can it declare such acts as penal offences and provide by law for punishment on conviction before a court?

Under clause (4) of section 71 there is specific power given to the Legislature, viz., to empower a court to try the case of persons who refuse to give evidence or produce documents before a Committee of a Chamber when duly required to do so and to make provision by an Act of the Legislature for the punishment thereof. But is the Legislature in any way restricted against declaring other acts as contempt and can it provide punishment for them and empower the ordinary courts to try such cases? In other words, does the prohibition in sub-section (4) in any way restrict the Legislature to declare any other contempt of the Legislature or any other act of similar nature a penal offence?

Under Schedule VII, List III, item No. (1), the Provincial Legislature as also the Federal Legislature have concurrent powers to deal with matters of criminal law, but "excluding such offences against the laws with respect to any of the matters specified in List I and List II." Under item 12, List II, the Provincial Legislature has power to provide "punishment of persons who refuse to give evidence or to produce documents to the extent of its power under section 71 (3) and (4)." Again, under item 12, it has also the power of making laws relating to the privileges of members. And under item 37 of List II it has power to legislate with respect to "offences against laws with respect to any of the matters" in List II.

Legislature not empowered.

There are two views in the matter. One view is that the Legislature is not empowered to declare any other acts not falling under the provision of sub-section (4) as acts of contempt or provide for punishment and empower courts to try such cases. The prohibition in sub-section (3) is the limitation of the powers of the Legislature in the field of criminal law in the matter of privileges. "The specific provision in sub-section (4) authorising the Legislature to confer powers on courts in certain cases only, by implication negatives a wider power. If the prohibition in sub-section (3) were held to be confined to assuming power to itself and the officers, sub-section (4) would be superfluous. This subject cannot fall under 'Criminal Law' item 1 of List III, Schedule VII, as the subject of 'offences in respect to matters in List II' is in terms excluded and item No. 12 of List II limits the power to what is expressly authorised by Part III of the Act." It is contended on these grounds that the Legislature has not only no power to assume the status of a court but also has no power to empower any court to punish cases of contempt other than providing punishment of persons who refuse to give evidence or produce documents before the Committee of the Legislature.

Aiyangar, Government of India Act, p. 48. (Notes on section 28, with necessary changes.)

Legislature can create offences of contempt.

On the other hand it can be said that the facts that the Legislature has full power to deal with criminal law including all matters included in the Indian Penal Code at the date of the passing of the India Act, that it has similarly the power to deal with criminal procedure including all matters included in the Code of Criminal Procedure at the date of passing of the Act, that it has power to deal with the entire range of evidence of judicial proceedings and has full power to declare as to what constitute actionable wrongs and to legislate on questions of jurisdiction and powers of courts, that it has the power by an appropriate measure to declare its own privileges —show that it can at least declare any act of legislative contempt, insult or obstruction as a penal offence and can devise suitable procedure for the same, and can also declare the nature and form of evidence required in such cases. Item 12 of List II, viz., to frame its own law of privilege read with item 37 of List II, viz., the power to deal with offences against law with respect to any of the matter in List II must mean that the Legislature has power to provide for punishment for the enforcement of the law of privileges. If the Legislature has power to make laws of privilege under section 71, read with item 12 of List II, if it has power to create offences against such laws under item 37 of List II, the mere fact that there is specific power given to provide for punishment in cases of persons refusing to give evidence or to produce document does not take away the wider power to frame the law of privileges and to provide for offences against such law. If it has got power to enact law for punitive detention with the object of the maintenance of public order, if it has power to deal with the administration of justice, if it has the power to decide the authority and scope of the courts, the mere fact that sub-section (4) of section 71 specially authorises for providing only one kind of punishment cannot by implication take away the other legitimate and constitutional power to enforce its laws with respect to privileges so long it does not assume the power and status of a court.

If that was the intention, Parliament might have specifically declared that the Legislature has no other power except punishment for non-production of documents and refusal to give evidence as expressly authorised. It can be contended that power to frame its own law of privileges, yet with no power to enforce the law of privileges is an incongruity. A democratic constitution with provincial autonomy, a genuine advance in the constitutional progress of India with power to create offences, yet powerless to protect itself against any kind of contempt of the Legislature is not a rational interpretation of the principles behind the India Act. If the Legislature is empowered to declare privileges and yet not empowered to enforce its privileges at least by authorising courts to punish breach of privileges, then the power of defining its own privileges is practically ineffective.

Necessity of such power.

But if that be the opinion of the constitutional lawyers, it is doubtful if anything in substance is possible in the nature of framing and defining the law of privileges, until the Government of India Act relating to privileges is amended and modified. But for the time being, it may be legitimately held that without empowering itself to function as a court, the Legislature has power to create offences against its own contempt. The necessity of such a power for the maintenance of the dignity of the House was expressed by Lord Ellenborough, C.J., in the case of Burdett vs. Abbott (14th East, 152). "If there were no precedents upon the subject, no legislative recognition, no practice or opinions in the Courts of Law recognising such an authority, it would still be essentially necessary to the Houses of Parliament to have it; indeed, they would sink into utter contempt and inefficiency without it. Could it be expected that they should stand high in the estimation and reverence of the people, if, whenever they were insulted they were obliged to await the comparatively slow proceedings of the ordinary Courts of Law for their redress? That the Speaker, with his mace, should be under the necessity of going before a grand jury to prefer a Bill of indictment for the insult offered to the House? They certainly must have the power of self-vindication in their hands: and if there be any authority in the recorded precedents of Parliament, any force in the recognition of the Legislature, and in the decisions of the Courts of Law, they have such a power." The right to constitute itself a court to punish contempt is taken away by section 71 of the Government of India Act. But if the right to create offences against contempt to be tried in ordinary courts of law is even taken away, there is no doubt that the Legislature in the words of Lord Ellenborough "would sink into utter contempt and inefficiency without it".

Proceedings in Parliament.

Section 71 (4) was, as said before, not intended to nullify the general powers given in section 71 (2), viz., the power of the Legislature to define its own laws of privileges. It would have been better, as section 71 now stands, if sub-section 4 was not there at all, but the history of this section in Parliament will make it clear that this sub-section is not at all intended to abrogate or nullify the general power given in section 71 (2). Sections 36 and 86 of the Constitution Bill presented as a part of the White Paper on the 15th March, 1933, were as follows:—

"36. Subject to the Rules and Standing Orders affecting the Chamber there will be freedom of speech in both Chambers of the Federal Legislature. No person will be liable to any proceedings in any court by reason of his speech or vote in either Chamber, or by reason of anything contained in any official report of the proceedings in either Chamber."

"86. Subject to the Rules and Standing Orders of the Legislature there will be freedom of speech in the Provincial Legislature. No person will be liable to any proceedings in any court by reason of his speech or vote, or by reason of anything contained in any official report of the proceedings."

In these clauses there was no mention whatsoever of any privileges of the Legislature except the right of freedom of speech and the right of freedom of publication of official report of the proceedings of Legislature. The principle of constitutional law as stated in Halsbury with reference to the powers of the Colonial Legislature may be remembered in this connection, viz., without express grant the Colonial Legislature cannot confer upon itself the power to punish any breach of privileges.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the Secretary of State, was examined before the Joint Select Committee on the position of privileges as follows:

"5960. (Mr. Zafrulla Khan) There is only one suggestion I wish to make to the Secretary of State on paragraph 86; I do not want to go into details at present, but there is a feeling in India (it has been mentioned to me on several occasions) that the question of the privileges of the Chair and the members of the Legislature may be considered further than they have been considered in paragraph 86. This no doubt secures freedom of speech to the members, but the members, and more particularly the Chair, have expressed a desire that there ought to me some further privileges added, specially some powers vested in the Chair to control members and to maintain discipline, and so on. As I have said, I do not want to go into the details, but the Secretary of State might ask somebody who might be conversant with the details of that matter to look into it?—We accept fully the importance of privileges of that kind. We have felt, however, that they were essentially privileges to be defined by the Federal Legislature itself. However, we will look further into the question and we will consult, say, the Lord Chancellor and the Speaker to see whether from their experience they can make any useful suggestions.

5961. Thank you very much. If power is left to the Federal Legislature to deal with the matter and perhaps in a smaller way to the Legislative Assemblies themselves, perhaps that would meet the case.

6918. (Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru) Now will you kindly turn to paragraph 36: Subject to the Rules and Standing Orders affecting the Chamber, there will be freedom of speech in both Chambers of the Federal Legislature.

6919. May I dispose of this question that I was just commencing: Do you see any objection to the Indian Legislature or the Provincial Legislature passing legislation to define their own privileges?—I myself should say not.

6820. You see no objection?—No."

When the Government of India Bill was thereafter introduced in the House of Commons the relevant sections were redrafted and for the first time full power was given to the Legislature to define its own law of privileges in sections 28 and 71, but with this restriction that not only it will not have the power and the status of a court, but it will have no power to compel the attendance of witnesses or to pass any law to punish witnesses refusing to attend. Section 28 and section 71 were in identical terms. The proposals in section 71* were then as follows :—

Sub-section (1)—Freedom of speech and publication.

Sub-section (2)—Power to define its own privileges.

Sub-section (3)—(i) No "power to compel the attendance of any person for any purpose before a Chamber or before both Chambers sitting together or before any committee or officer of the Legislature", nor any "power to pass any enactment providing for the punishment of persons who refuse to attend as aforesaid."

(ii) No status of a court nor any punitive or disciplinary powers other than to remove or exclude persons infringing Rules and Standing Orders, etc.

It will therefore be seen that the Government of India Bill as introduced in the Commons gave the Legislature full power to deal with its own law of privileges but with no power to compel the attendance of witnesses or to provide punishment for refusing to attend, and subject to the general provision that the Legislature was not to have the power and status of a court. At the Committee stage in the House of Commons attempts were made to delete the unduly restricted provisions relating to witnesses and Major Milner proposed the deletion of sub-section (3) on the ground that it would otherwise unduly restrict the power of Legislature. Major Milner said as follows :—

"I thought that one of the great evidences of a Legislature's responsibility was its right, within the confines of its own country, to compel the attendance of persons for any purpose but particularly for the purpose of giving evidence or information. I suggest that it is contrary to the whole spirit of the Bill that that power should be refused to the Indian Assembly. This clause is a typical instance of what is being done in this Bill. The first sub-section provides that there shall be freedom of Parliamentary debates—Commons, Vol. 299, p. 301.

*71. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and to Rules and Standing Orders regulating the procedure of the Legislature, there shall be freedom of speech in every Provincial Legislature, and no member of the Legislature shall be liable to any proceedings in any court in respect of anything said or any vote given by him in the Legislature or any Committee thereof, and no person shall be so liable in respect of the publication by or under the authority of a Chamber of such a Legislature of any report, paper, votes or proceedings.

(2) In other respects, the privileges of members of a Chamber of a Provincial Legislature shall be such as may from time to time be defined by Act of the Provincial Legislature and until so defined, shall be such as were immediately before the commencement of this Part of this Act enjoyed by members of the Legislative Council of the Province.

(3) Nothing in any existing Indian law, and, notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this section, nothing in this Act, shall be construed as conferring, or empowering any Legislature to confer, on a Chamber thereof or on both Chambers sitting together or any Committee or officer of the Legislature, the status of a court, or any power to compel the attendance of any person for any purpose before a Chamber or before the Chambers sitting together or before any Committee or officer of the Legislature, or any punitive or disciplinary powers other than the power to remove or exclude persons infringing the Rules or Standing Orders, or otherwise behaving in a disorderly manner.

For the purposes of this sub-section an enactment providing for the punishment of persons who refuse to attend as aforesaid shall be deemed to be an enactment conferring power to compel attendance of persons.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) of this section shall apply in relation to persons who by virtue of this Act have the right to speak in and otherwise take part in the proceedings of a Chamber as they apply in relation to members of the Legislature.

speech and certain other rights; the second sub-section sets out certain privileges such as may from time to time be defined by acts of the Legislature; the third sub-section, the deletion of which I am moving, takes away from the powers given by the previous sub-sections."

Mr. Butler, the Under Secretary of State, thereupon promised to reconsider the whole matter on behalf of Government and said as follows :—

Ibid, p. 302.

"The Government have been considering this sub-section, and we think that its terms are somewhat unduly restrictive of the powers of Federal Legislature. There are obviously certain rights which it would be a good thing to secure to the Federal Legislature, and, without going into any of the technical points involved in the sub-section, I should like to say that when we come to the equivalent clause and sub-section in the Provincial part of this Bill, we shall have a proposal to make. When we resume discussion on this part of the Bill on the report stage we hope to put down our revised views of the extent to which the powers of the Federal Legislature in this respect should be restricted."

At a later date of the committee stage the Solicitor General on behalf of the Government moved the deletion of the portion referring to witnesses in clause (28), viz.—

"or any power to compel the attendance of any person for any purpose before a Chamber or before both Chambers sitting together or before any Committee or officer of the Legislature.

"For the purposes of this sub-section an enactment providing for the punishment of persons who refuse to attend as aforesaid shall be deemed to be an enactment conferring power to compel attendance of persons."

And further moved the addition of a further sub-section as a consequence of deletion of the portion relating to witnesses, viz., as follows :—

"(4) Provision may be made by an Act of the Federal Legislature for the punishment, on conviction before a court, of persons who refuse to give evidence or produce documents before a Committee of a Chamber when duly required by the Chairman of the Committee to do so :

"Provided that any such Act shall have effect subject to such rules for regulating the attendance before such Committees of persons who are, or have been, in the service of the Crown in India, and safeguarding confidential matter from disclosure, as may be made by the Governor General exercising his individual judgment."

Similar deletion and addition were moved by Sir Samuel Hoare in clause 71. Both these were accepted in the Commons. The Solicitor General said in the Commons :—

"The general object of the clause is to prevent the Federal Legislature from assuming the powers of a court, such as the power we have, to some extent, in Parliament here, which of course is in some respects a court as well as a legislative assembly. While we are not going to the full length of the power which this House has, it was felt by those who raised the point that the clause, as drafted, was a little too restrictive."

It will therefore be seen that section 71 (4) was enacted to restore a specific power which was originally refused and not in any way to restrict the power given in sub-section (2), viz., the power of Legislature to define its privileges by statutory enactments. The main object throughout was to give full power to the Legislature with respect to privileges, except to grant the status of a Court.

Under the old Constitution.

Until defined by Act of the Legislature, the privileges of members of a Chamber of a Provincial Legislature shall be such as were immediately before the commencement of the new constitution enjoyed by members of the Legislative Council of the Province. It is therefore necessary to know what these privileges were under the old constitution.

Section 72D (7) of the Government of India Act, 1919.

Under section 72D (7) of the Government of India Act, 1919, subject to the Rules and Standing Orders there was right of freedom of speech in the Governor's Legislative Councils and no person was "liable to any proceedings in any court by reason of his speech or vote in any such Council or by reason of anything contained in any official report of the proceedings of any such Council."

Section 110.

Under section 110 of the same Act the Ministers appointed under the Act were not "subject to the original jurisdiction of any High Court by reason of anything counselled, ordered or done by any of them in his public capacity" or "liable to be arrested or imprisoned in any suit or proceeding in any High Court acting in the exercise of its original jurisdiction" nor "subject to the original criminal jurisdiction of any High Court in respect of any offence not being treason or felony".

The question of exemption and jurisdiction of courts was fully gone into by the Reforms Enquiry Committee of 1924 which was presided over by the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Muddiman, the Home Member of the Government of India. The Committee recommended that legislation should be undertaken either in England or in India barring the courts from premature interference with the Presidents of the Council and they expressed themselves as follows :—

> "We have no hesitation in recommending that the matters should be placed beyond doubt and legislation should be undertaken either in England or in India barring the courts from premature interference with the Presidents of the Councils."

As regards the exemption from jurisdiction of High Courts they expressed the following views :—

> "Our attention has been invited to the fact that under section 110 of the Government of India Act the immunity granted to the Governor General, the Governors and the other high officials mentioned therein is incomplete and unsatisfactory. They are exempted merely from the original jurisdiction of the High Courts and though this may have been a sufficient provision in times when the Government of India was permanently located at Calcutta, it is of little value in the present day. We think that, if the immunity is to be maintained, it should be made complete, and that the jurisdiction of all courts should be barred in respect of the matters referred to in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1)."

Legislative Members Exemption Act, 1925.

By the Legislative Members Exemption Act, 1925 (XXIII of 1925), members of Legislature were exempted from liability to serve as jurors or assessors so long they remain members of such Legislature. They were also not liable to arrest or detention in prison under civil process during the continuance of any meeting of such body or of any meeting of any committee thereof and during the fourteen days before and after such meeting or sitting.

Bengal Legislative Council (Witnesses) Act, 1866.

Under the Bengal Legislative Council (Witnesses) Act, 1866, if in the judgment of the Bengal Legislative Council, evidence of any person may likely be required with reference to any project of law, Bill or Act then under consideration by such Council, the Governor had the power to summon such person to appear and to produce all books, deeds and writings as appeared necessary requiring him to attend before such Council and if any person should without reasonable cause fail to appear before the Council or should not make answer to such questions as might be put to him touching all matters under consideration as aforesaid or should refuse or fail without reasonable cause to produce any books, deeds or writings in his possession, power or control as by the said Council, he might be required to produce, the Governor was on the report of the Council specifically empowered by warrant to direct that such person be apprehended and committed to close custody in a place and for a time specified in such warrant unless in the meantime he complied to the satisfaction of the Council, with such requisitions as had been made on him touching his examination. This power extended to any Committee of the whole Council or any Select Committee of the Council of Bengal.

This last Act is no longer in force in accordance with the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, dated the 18th March, 1937. The Government of India Act of 1919 is repealed by the India Act of 1935. The Legislative Members Exemption Act is still in force.

No freedom of Publications outside official proceedings.

The whole question of privilege of publication of speeches in the Legislature came up for discussion in the Indian Legislative Assembly in 1936. The Government of United Provinces demanded security from the Abhyudaya, a paper of Allahabad, for publishing Hindi translation of the full text of speech of a member of the Indian Legislative Assembly which was made in the Assembly on the 6th September, 1935, during the discussion of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill. It was claimed on that occasion that the right of freedom of speech in the Legislature by implication meant freedom of publishing speech and it was also claimed that so long as a report was a faithful one or a verbatim report it was protected by the right of freedom of speech. There was a full debate on that point. The question whether the members have the privilege to have the speeches published and reported by the Press outside without restriction was fully gone into. It was claimed that it was an implicit assumption inherent in the constitution that if a member has the privilege of freedom of speech, nobody can question a person if he publishes that speech faithfully or verbatim and it was contended that it was a breach of privilege of the House if any paper was proceeded against by the executive Government for publishing a faithful and fair version of the speech. It was contended that section 67 (7) and the other relevant sections were not exhaustive and the mere fact that it was not specifically mentioned that publication other than official publication was immune would not make it necessarily liable. In short the claim was that privilege of freedom of speech connotes the privilege by implication of freedom to publish the speech. After full discussion the Hon'ble Sir Abdur Rahim held that having regard to the unambiguous terms in which the limitations of the freedom of speech has been defined in the statute the privilege does not extend to publications other than official reports. The position was again defined in the Indian Legislative Assembly on the 12th October, 1936, that outside the House the speeches of members are not protected except when published by and under the authority of the Legislature.

Immunity in Questions.

The question arose in Burma as to whether immunity from legal proceeding is confined to speech and vote only and whether the privilege extends to interpellations. A member of the Burma Legislative Council asked a question about gambling dens and smuggling of cocaine and opium done by a certain person, named in the question. A case of defamation was therefore brought against the member. The matter went up ultimately to the High Court and the Chief Justice Sir Godman Roberts decided the case on the 20th July, 1936, holding that the member of the Council enjoyed absolute privilege in respect of questions also, as in the case of speech and vote and that no proceeding lay in a law court on that account.

Mr. Aw Eu Wah vs. Mr. U. Khin Maung, M.L.C.

Growth of Privileges.

The different Legislatures in India, including the Central Legislature have within the last fifteen years attempted to develop by convention certain other privileges, viz.—

(a) A member who gives to the Press for publication questions or resolutions before they are admitted by the Chair commits a serious breach of privilege of the House.

Indian Legislative Assembly Debates. 1933—27th March, p. 2655.

(b) It is a parliamentary offence to give publicity to reports of proceedings of the Select Committee until the report has been actually presented to the House. It is a serious breach of privilege of the House to publish reports of Select Committees and minutes of dissent before they are presented to the House.

Indian Legislative Assembly Debates: 1934—14th April, p. 3759. Ibid. 1934—14th February, pp. 796-97.

(c) It is a breach of privilege that publications of questions, resolutions, motions should take place in newspapers before they are admitted and officially published.

Ibid. 1934- 14th February, pp. 796-97.

(d) It is considered a breach of privilege to ask a question based on newspaper report.

Note to Standing Order 14 (section 27) Bengal Legislative Council Rules and Standing Orders.

(e) Until introduced or published for introduction papers relating to a Bill are treated as confidential.

Notes to Standing Order 19 (section 48).

(f) It is a breach of privilege to refer to anything that happens in the Select Committee, save and except that which appears in the report of the Select Committee.

Notes to Standing Order 46 (section 57).

Power to punish breach of Privileges.

Apart from immunities conferred by the Statutory enactments, the only power possessed under the old constitution to punish breach of privileges was in rule 17 of Standing Orders and Rules in Bengal—and similar in all other Legislatures, viz., the President shall preserve order and have all powers necessary for the purpose of enforcing his decisions on all points of order. He can ask the offending person if a member to apologise or to withdraw. The House can always express its displeasure and can suspend a member from the service of the House. A stranger may be immediately asked to withdraw. As regards the offending Press, the only power possessed by the President was to refuse the privilege of reporting proceedings of the Legislature and the supply of parliamentary papers. This was done in the recent case of Amrita Bazar Patrika in the Indian Legislative Assembly.

Indian Legislative Assembly Debates. 5th September, 1936.

Intermediate Procedure.

It is unfortunately true that scurrilous press articles against the proceedings of the Legislature, libellous attacks against individual members in regard to their speeches or votes or in regard to matters which should arise only for the consideration of the Speaker are often published. Attacks against the conduct of the chair, accusations and insinuations of partiality are also published. It seems there are no special powers to deal with such breaches of parliamentary privileges. If no action is taken matters may reach a stage when it will be the order of the day and it may become a habit to libel the Assembly and its proceedings or its officers at every twist and turn and so to bring it into contempt. The Hon'ble President of the Indian Legislative Assembly in 1928 gave his opinion that it is the inherent right of any Legislature to defend itself against outside attacks and it is perfectly open in a proper case for the House to table a substantive motion and pass a vote of censure or condemnation on the attack.

Assembly Debate, 1928, Vol. 3, p. 154.

The Hon'ble Sir Narayan Chandravarkar, President of the Bombay Council, was of opinion that it was competent to cause the editor of an offending newspaper to be brought before the bar of the House and he had held the theory that such powers were inherent: but on the other hand it was held that inasmuch as no sanction existed to enforce the exercise of such power they could not in fact be said to exist in any real sense. There have been of course instances also in which the Provincial Councils have in fact exercised certain powers. A certain resolution had been disallowed by the Hon'ble Mr. Keane, President of the United Provinces Council, and a local journal criticising the disallowance of the resolution charged him with having disallowed it not in accordance with his own conception of the merits but under pressure from Government. There was a unanimous motion passed in the Council amounting to a censure of the journal concerned, but the matter terminated with an unqualified apology from the journal.

In Madras the House unanimously passed a resolution resenting an attack on the President and a motion was passed censuring the newspaper concerned.

It will be for the Committee of Privileges to consider, whether even though it is not possible for the House to punish contempts, an intermediate procedure cannot be devised apart from the power of empowering courts to try such cases. There is a danger which must be frankly recognised that unless a real responsibility in the matter of privileges is assumed by the Legislature there may be a tendency to take too frequent notice of cases of contempt and to refer them to courts for adjudication, on the assumption that the publicity given to such proceedings, whatever may be the ultimate result in courts, may have a certain amount of deterrent effect on persons. But frequent references to courts may cause considerable harassment and may defeat their own object.

The question as to whether the House of Commons exercise its power of commitment for contempt as of right inherent in every court of record or otherwise has been discussed by Anson and his conclusions are "On the whole it would seem that the right of committal finds a surer basis on the necessity of such a power for the maintenance of the dignity of the House, than on any technicality as to the House being a court of record." Some hold that it is inherent in every constitution which has even limited power of a sovereign Legislature, that within its scope it must have the power to protect itself outside attacks and if there is no sanction existing to enforce the exercise of any power such power could not in fact be said to exist in any real sense. If the Legislature has the power to define its privileges, it has the inherent power of committal for contempt. But for the time being would it be feasible to devise an intermediate procedure as follows, viz., whenever a matter of contempt of the Legislature is brought to the notice of the Assembly, the Leader of the House would move a resolution for referring such matter to the Committee of Privileges. If the Anson, Vol. 1, pp. 179, 180.

Committee of Privileges is satisfied that prima facie it is a case of contempt the Committee should report its decision to the Assembly and thereafter on the matter being brought up before the House and the House agreeing with the recommendation of the Committee the offending person may be given a notice to appear before the bar of the House, instead of the matter being straightaway referred to the court for trial. It would of course be open to such person to appear before the bar only if he wishes to and to make any declaration after being warned that he is free to make such declaration or not as he chooses and thereafter he may either explain himself or express his regret or apology to the House and the matter may thereafter be either dropped or proceeded further as the House may wish. It should be definitely understood that in such procedure the appearance of the offending person should be a pure optional act on the part of such person and likewise any statement of his should be optional and voluntary on his part, and even if he chooses to make a statement, that statement or part of the proceedings should in no circumstance be put in evidence in a court if his case is sent to a court. This procedure has the advantage of leaving the matter entirely to the choice of the person concerned and yet at the same time avoid complicated court proceedings which might be disadvantageous to the offending person himself and at the same time will lay the foundation of a procedure concerning the privileges. In any case this aspect of the matter should be fully discussed in the Committee of Privileges, as to whether it will be within the competence of the Legislature to devise such procedure and thereby not only simplify the proceedings but at the same time lay the foundation of some control of the House over such matters.
